Together in sports, academics, clubs, and life. But apart, as we all are individuals, each capable of excelling in his own area.

Togetherness has been the spirit some of us have felt for the past twelve years. Whether it's been a unified effort to pass a school levy, or a senior trip to Old Man's Cave, we've done it together, and benefited from our experience. There's no feeling more fulfilling than that of belonging. . . . Unless, it is personal achievement. Everyone is unique, possessing a talent, ability, or personality separating him from everyone else. Not everyone can kick a football, sing in tune, or pass Chemistry; each person reaches a different plateau, thus separating him from a group, yet still making him important.

And now, we've completed our twelve years of learning — together. Apart, some have learned more and different things than others. But now, our togetherness bond is physically broken, and we leave the halls of Unioto to utilize the knowledge and experiences we have acquired.

Apart? Yes. But the memories we have shared will keep us together forever.

TOGETHER BUT APART

PIECES OF OUR TIMES

Together . . . we made it through one of the worst winters in history.
shared the excitement of a victorious homecoming.
assembled as a class for the last time or wondered how it was going to feel when your class was the "seniors."
contributed to a nice prom either financially weeks before or physically the night before.
combined our talents to perform "Flowers for Algernon" in front of a full house . . .
ready or not.
put together an assembly at the last minute or suffered through those we had to watch.

Apart . . . we chose who we thought would make the best President, Ford or Carter, although most of us couldn't actually vote.
had a favorite parking space
whether by a friend's car, reverse in back row, or at the school's nearest exit.
spent hours helping the class build a winning homecoming float or just waited for the "big night" to see what was created.
went sleigh riding, loafed, slept or whatever we were able to do during the long winter vacation.
decided whether to continue our education, get a job, or none of the above.
dreamt about who would be or who we wanted to be our prom date.

"DO YOU FEEL . . . LIKE I DO?" Sound familiar? It should, because this favorite Frampton tune was at some time being played on almost every radio, record and tape player. Peter Frampton became popular with this hit song in which you could actually hear a guitar sing.

Through his music and others, people can communicate and express themselves by dancing, singing the words, or even listening with the volume turned up full blast. Most likely hearing a favorite song is relaxing, especially after a long day at school.

School and life itself would be dull seeing the same expression on the same face, so there are several ways of showing emotion. But whether the feeling is hunger, anger, happiness or sadness — each is unique.

Below — Algebra class seems like the more appropriate time for Eddie Elliot to catch some ZZZ's than to watch Mrs. Mackley do proofs.

Center — Concentration is the name of the game when Ted Hill is working.

Right — Chris Baker gives us his 'sweet and innocent' look.

"DO YOU FEEL . . . LIKE I DO?"

Left — Is Mr. Marsh really camera shy or has he been caught in another embarrassing situation?

THE NIGHT BELONGS TO US

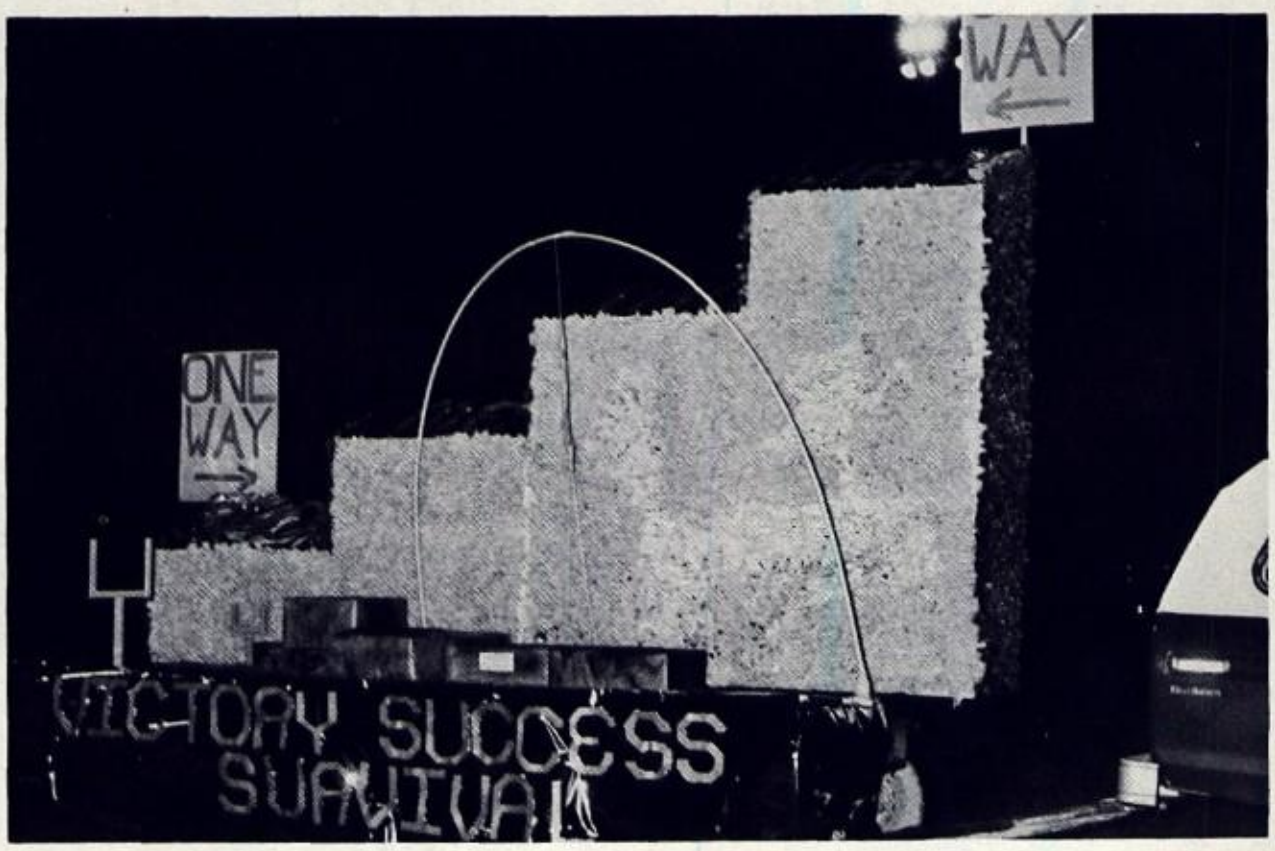
An excited feeling of anticipation in the crisp, cool autumn evening provided the perfect atmosphere for Homecoming 1976. "Show Me The Way" was selected as the theme for the special occasion. Jackie Rahe, a senior, was crowned Miss Unioto by last year's homecoming queen Cara Park. Kim Jadwin and Chris Fellenstein served as Jackie's senior attendants; Angie Neff and Lynne Spires were chosen junior attendants. Sophomore princess was Bonnie Ramey, and freshman princess was Becky Howell.

The Sophomore float, depicting steps leading upward to victory, was awarded first place in the float judging contest. The pregame activities left the court in joyful tears, the sophomores exhilarated, and the fans in the rowdiest mood ever.

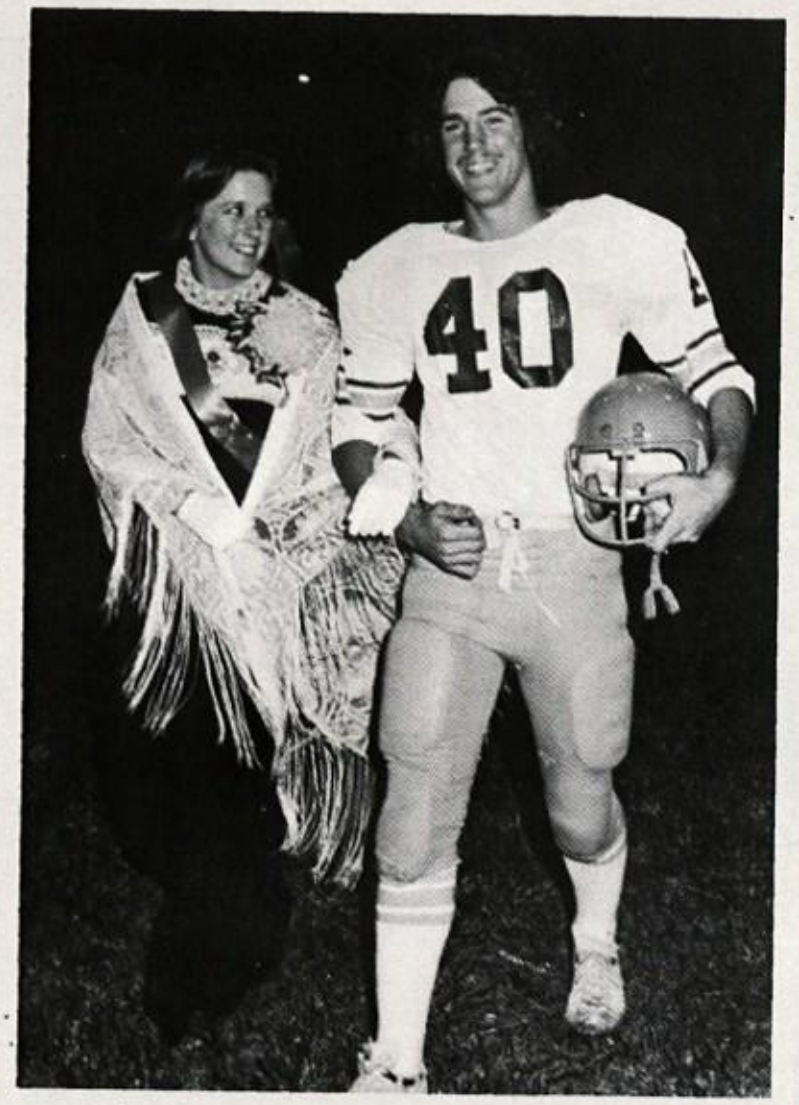
The football players, all fifty-four of them, made a grand entrance through the longest "people tunnel" of the season, and helium balloons floated skyward from the big sign they ran through. Then came the kick-off. Momentum, spirit, determination, and Coach Shoemaker led the team to a tremendous victory over Southeastern by a 35-0 score.

The enchanted evening did not end with the fourth quarter. Many couples changed clothes and met in the Commons after the game to dance to the sounds of "Crosswinds." A two-week old Student Council hectically, but efficiently, organized and sponsored Homecoming night — a night which will be a cherished memory in the minds of seniors, court members, football players, and fans for a long, long time.

The Homecoming queen is Jackie Rahe. Jackie then went on to compete in the Miss Ross County contest and was second runner-up.



The sophomore float, which combined the concepts of victory and passage of the school levy, won first place in the float judging contest.



Kim Jadwin and Kevin Davis share a laugh as they walk across the field during pre-game activities.

VIM, VIGOR, AND VICKS

Summer practices started things off for the cheerleaders as they began preparing for camp and the upcoming football season.

In August, all the cheerleaders, junior high through varsity, attended a Golden Eagle Cheerleading Camp held at Wittenburg. During the week the cheerleaders were awarded ribbons for their outstanding achievements.

After returning from camp, the cheerleaders made preparations for the annual bonfire. Because of bad weather, it was held in the gym, making it the first indoor rally ever.

New uniforms added to the color and excitement of the football season. The girls purchased the uniforms with money from a bake sale, concessions, and a donation from the football team.

The Cheerleaders look on as the Bearcats of Paint Valley add two more.

"R-O-W-D-I-E" shout the reserve cheerleaders as the crowd "Gets Rowdy."

VARSITY CHEERLEADERS: Lynne Spires, Kate Stewart, Chris Fellenstein, Susan Kozar, Kathy Baker, Angie Neff.

As the season progressed, pep rallies were held to boost the school spirit. One of the favorites of the student body was the "Hoe-Down" rally. The Get Rowdy Kazoo Band added to the enthusiasm of the students as they provided special sound effects.

Many activities took place during the season. Among these were: football favors, house decoratings, and posters.

In the short break between football and basketball seasons, the reserve and varsity cheerleaders went to a competition held at Lucasville Valley High School. Both squads received second place trophies.

Cold weather delayed basketball season and when play resumed, the make-up schedule included seven away games in nine days. Despite the turmoil and demanding schedule, the cheerleaders managed to keep the school spirit going by decorating the primary building and players' houses.

The cheerleading season came to an end as the girls conducted a clinic for students trying out for next year's squads.

SEVENTH GRADE CHEERLEADERS: Top — Christy Uhrig, Tammie Ramey. Bottom — Sonya Elam, Carrie Cottrill, Sheri Oliver, Amy Young.

WORDS SPOKEN IN ACTION

Varsity cheerleader Kate Stewart shows the sixth graders how it's done at the clinic which was held before tryouts.

EIGHTH GRADE CHEERLEADERS: Top to Bottom — Diane Cydrus, Tracy Manson, Angie Smith, Tacy Good, Diana Ramsey, Janie Osborne.

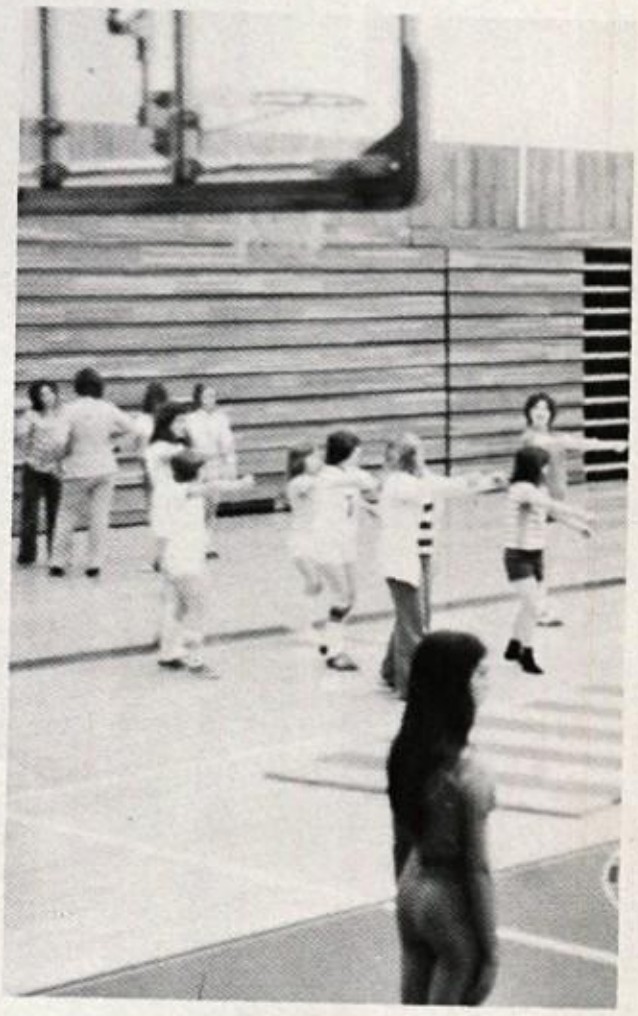
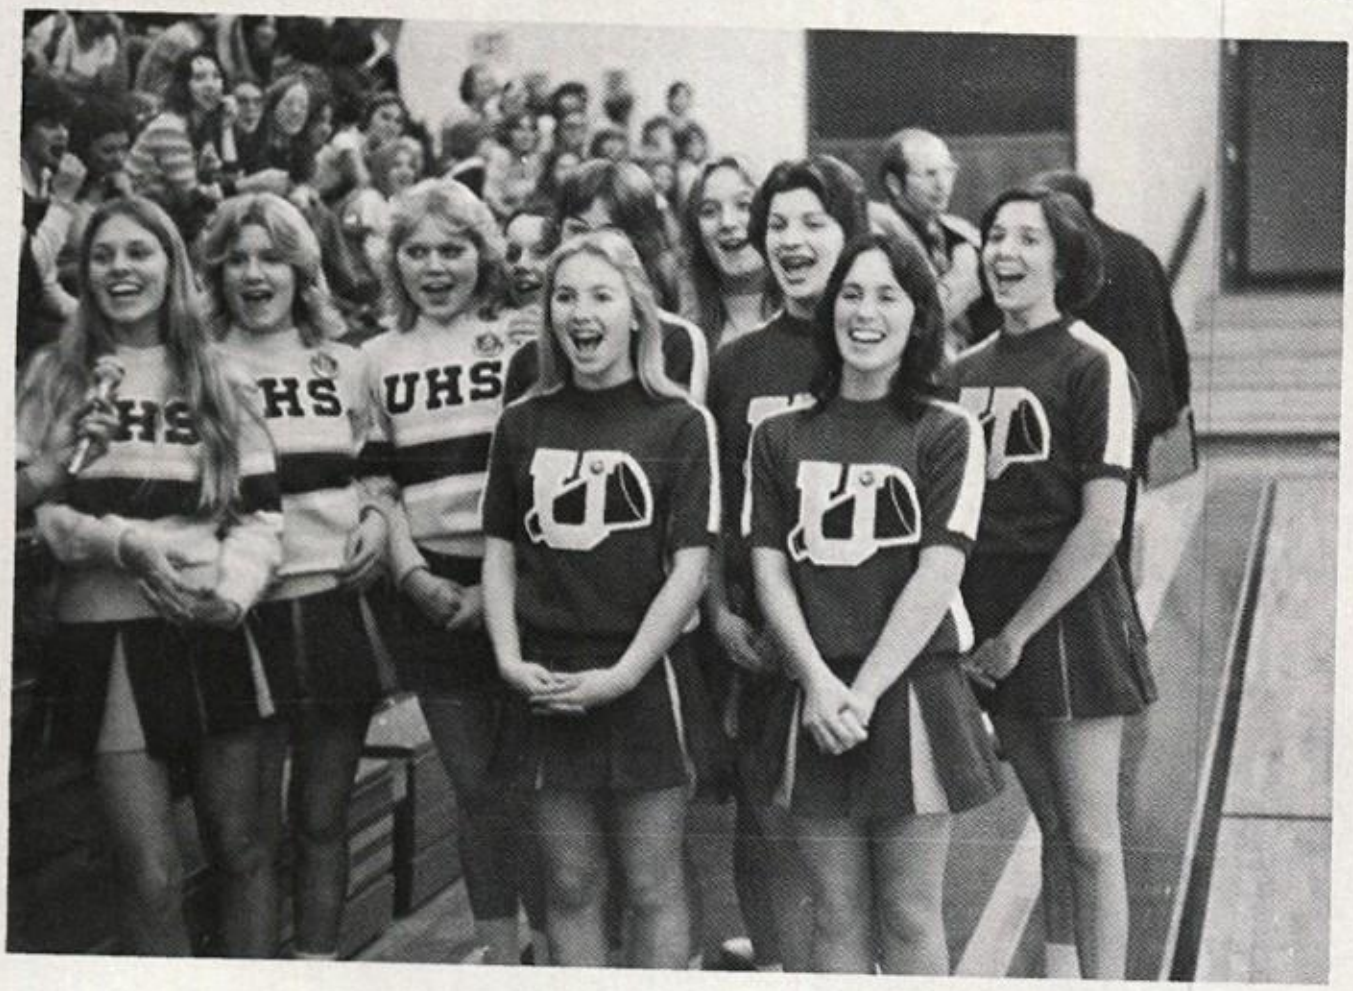
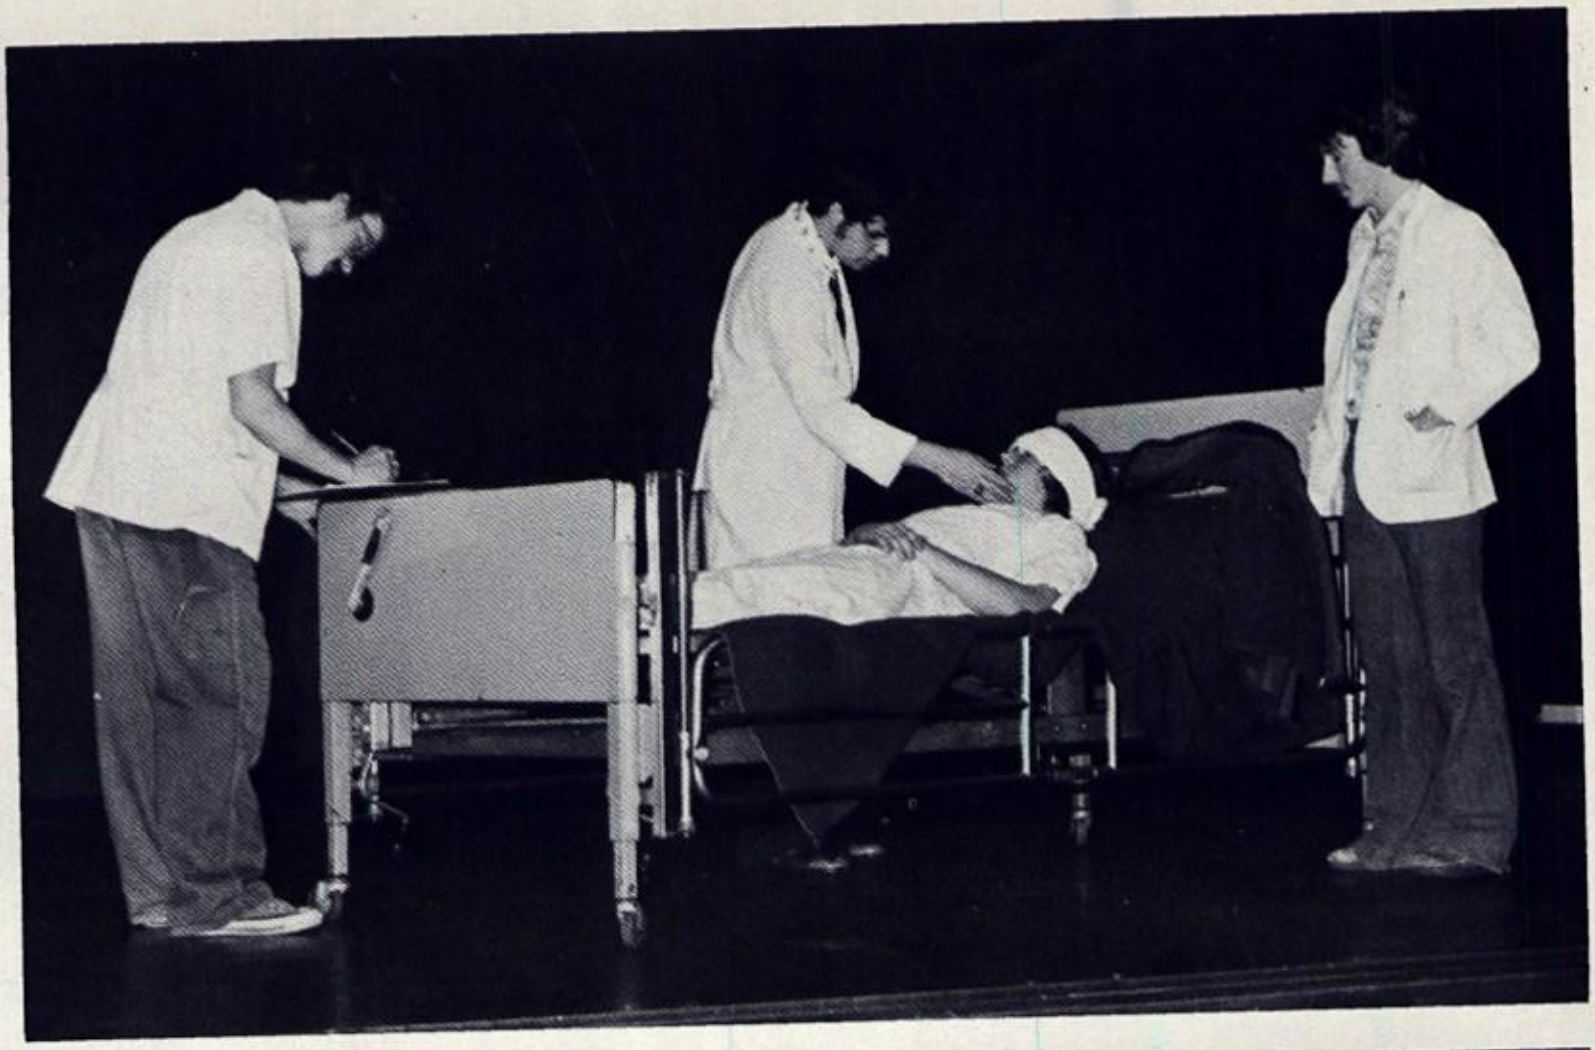
Cheers, chants, and stunts filled the gym as the girls prepared for tryouts.





The reserve and varsity cheerleaders wish Athletic Director Mr. Uhrig a happy birthday as they sing the traditional birthday song during a basketball half time.



Center Left — Make-up is a big part of a production. However, when a character like Mrs. Feldman (Brenda Ball) tries to age her brown hair with spray-on shellac, the cast must take time to remove her almost permanent hairstyle.

Top — Dr. Strauss (Kelly Hill) examines Charlie (Bob Atwood) while Professor Nemur (Shawn Smith) and Burt Seldon (Jim Strausbaugh) note the progress.

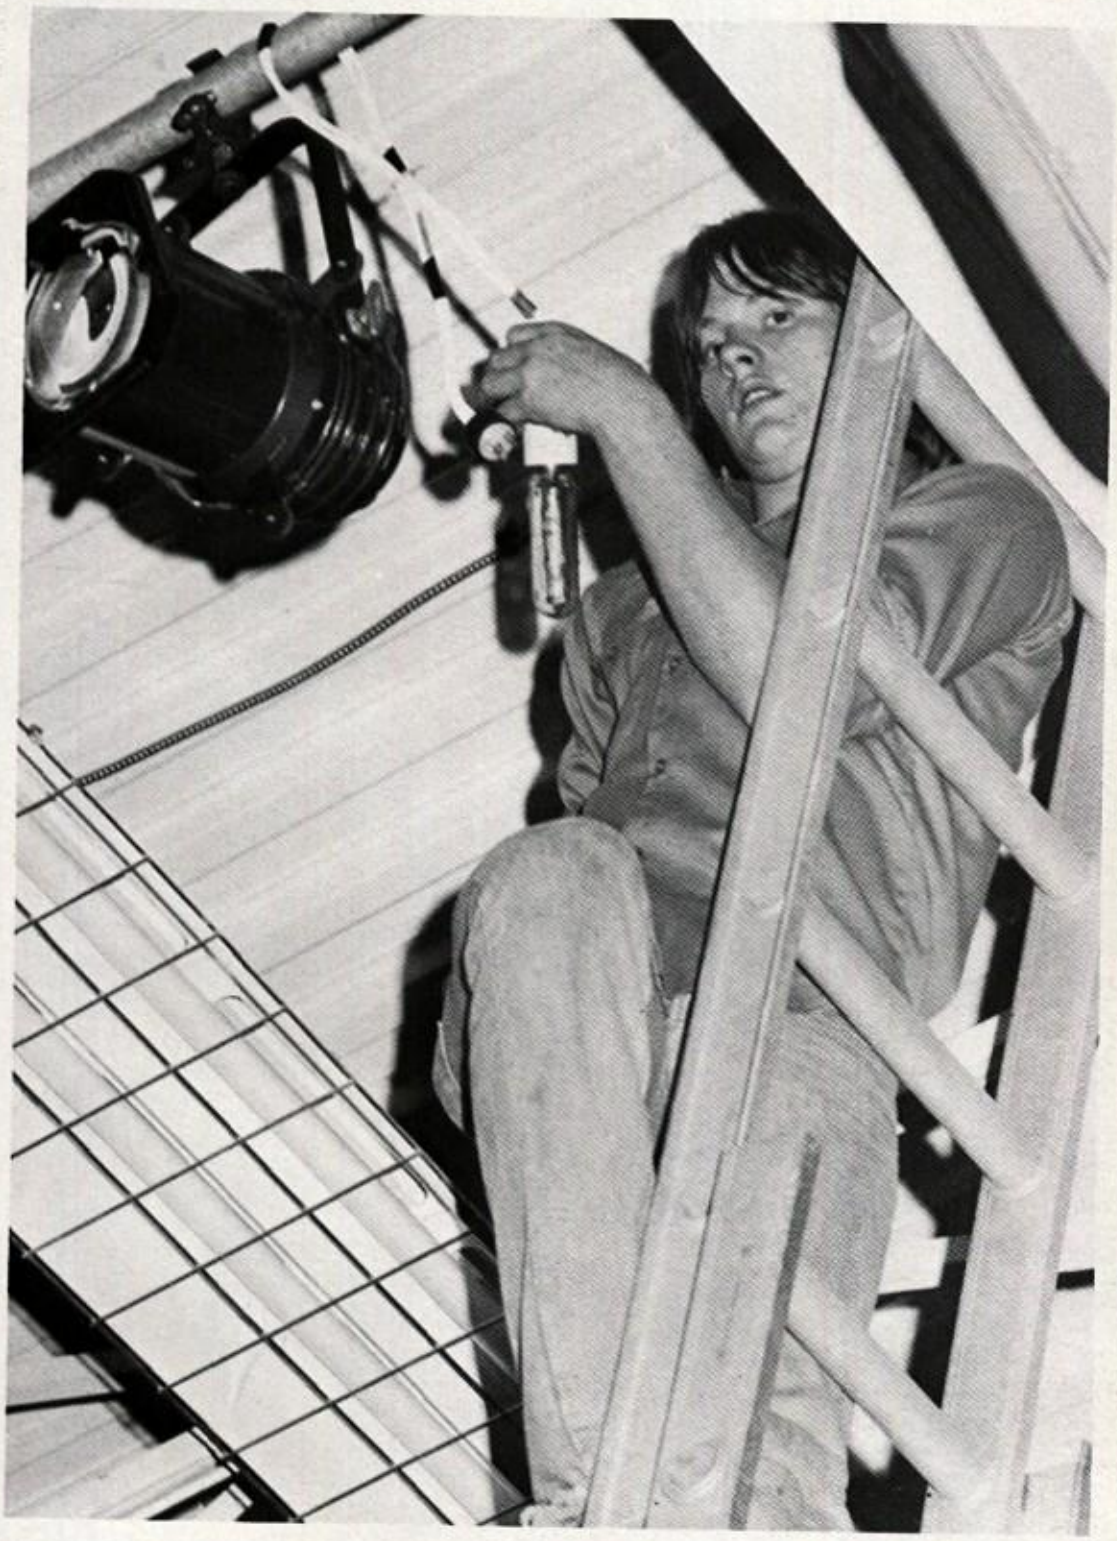
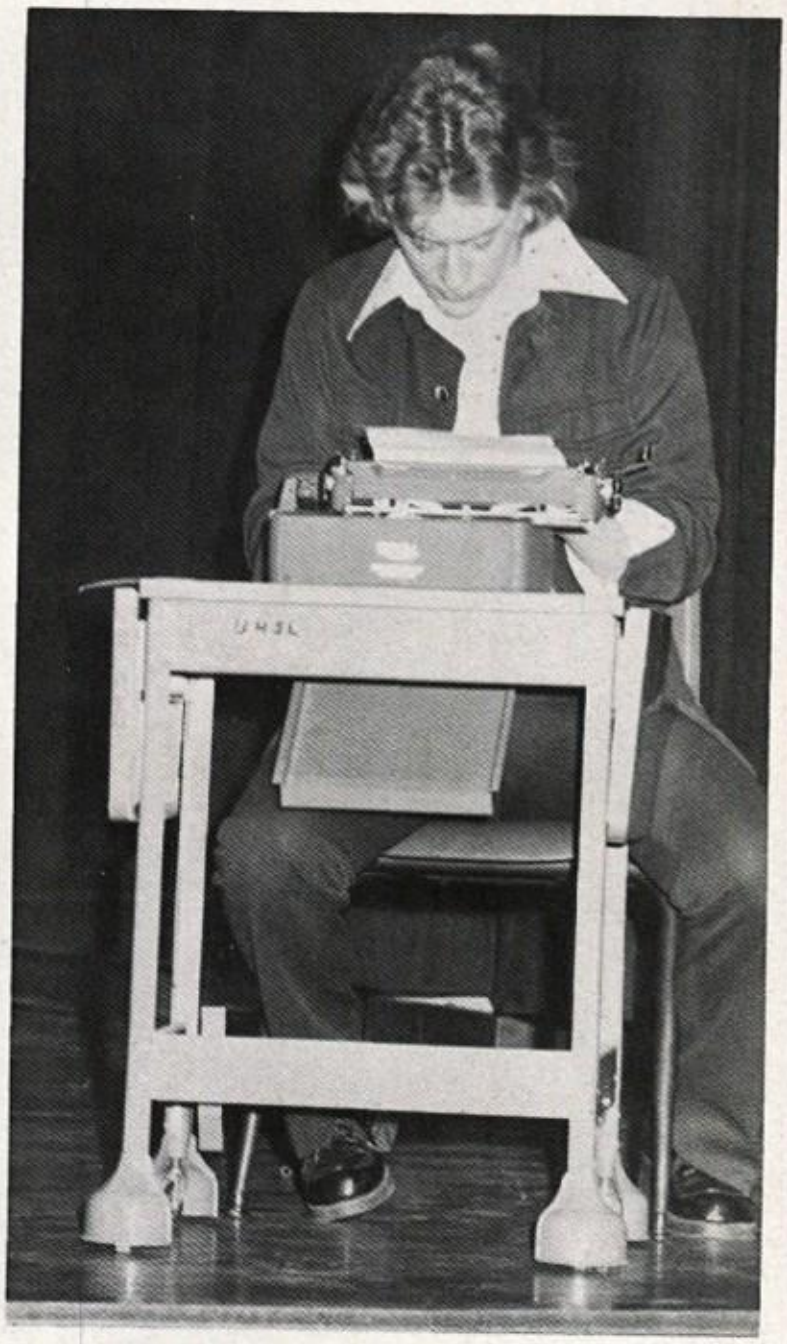
FLOWERS FOR ALGERNON

The Drama Club Production, "Flowers for Algernon" was a moving story about Charlie Gordon, a mentally retarded man, and his struggle to become smart. Mr. Bill Marsh, assisted by student director Dona Pelletier, and the cast, touched the audience with the highly emotional, heart-warming story.

Left — Teacher Alice Kinnian discusses progress and learning with Charlie, trying hard not to show her true feelings for him.



Above — Lighting is always an important factor in any production. But when you have no curtains, certain lighting techniques are required for that special affect.



Above — Charlie hurries to complete the Algernon-Gordon affect, his thesis and study of the experiment, before he regresses.

Right — Burt tries to explain the operation and tests to a happy-go-lucky Charlie. On the table is Algernon's maze.

Below — Little Charlie is reprimanded when he tries to comfort his crying baby sister.

Bob Atwood, who played the lead role of Charlie Gordon, was chosen as a human guinea pig for a unique, scientific experiment designed to increase learning capacity. Despite the success of the operation, Charlie found it difficult to cope emotionally with the world, and related best to Algernon, a small white mouse who had undergone the same operation. The brilliant masterminds behind the research were Professor Harold Nemur and Dr. Jay Strauss portrayed by Shawn Smith and Kelly Hill, respectively. Lab assistant Burt Seldon played by Jim Strausbaugh, was a true friend to Charlie during his troubled times.

Memories of his childhood haunted the affection Charlie had for his teacher, Alice Kinnian, characterized by female lead Kate Stewart. While dreams of punishment, rejection, and shame disturbed Charlie's sleep, visions of his former self disrupted the quiet, tender moments he and Alice shared. The dream sequences featured: Becky Barrow as Mother, first disbelieving of Charlie's problem, then resentful and hateful of his condition. Jeff Dawson as Father, realizing the problem but confused as to what action should be taken. Patty Arledge as Norma, Charlie's snobbish little sister. Charlie's teenage counterpart was Rocky Pelfry.

Tension mounted within Charlie until he finally left with Algernon and went to New York. By this time, Charlie was a genius, more intelligent than the doctors who had helped him become as smart as he had. But Charlie researched and studied the experiment and found a flaw, and realized that his new-found intelligence had little time left. Charlie's mind slowly deteriorated, leaving him virtually hopeless and helpless. Algernon's mind also wasted away; eventually, the little mouse died, leaving behind a heartbroken Charlie. At the close of the play, Charlie had regressed to his former self. He visited Algernon's grave to pay his last respects before he left to be institutionalized for the rest of his life.

The cast had fun with improvisions in practice, such as killing cockroaches at an elite cocktail party, signaling Russia to come in, cries of 'Don't beat me Margaret, don't beat me!' and 'Oh my God, they've killed them all.' However, when the spotlight focused on Dr. Strauss' office, Act I, Scene I on Thursday, April 21, 1977, the cast of "Flowers for Algernon" changed from clowns to actors and told one of the most moving stories of society, simplicity, and blessed innocence.

Left — Frank, portrayed by Don Carnes, is a prankster at the bakery where Charlie works. Frank is at it again, planning to make a fool out of an innocent Charlie.

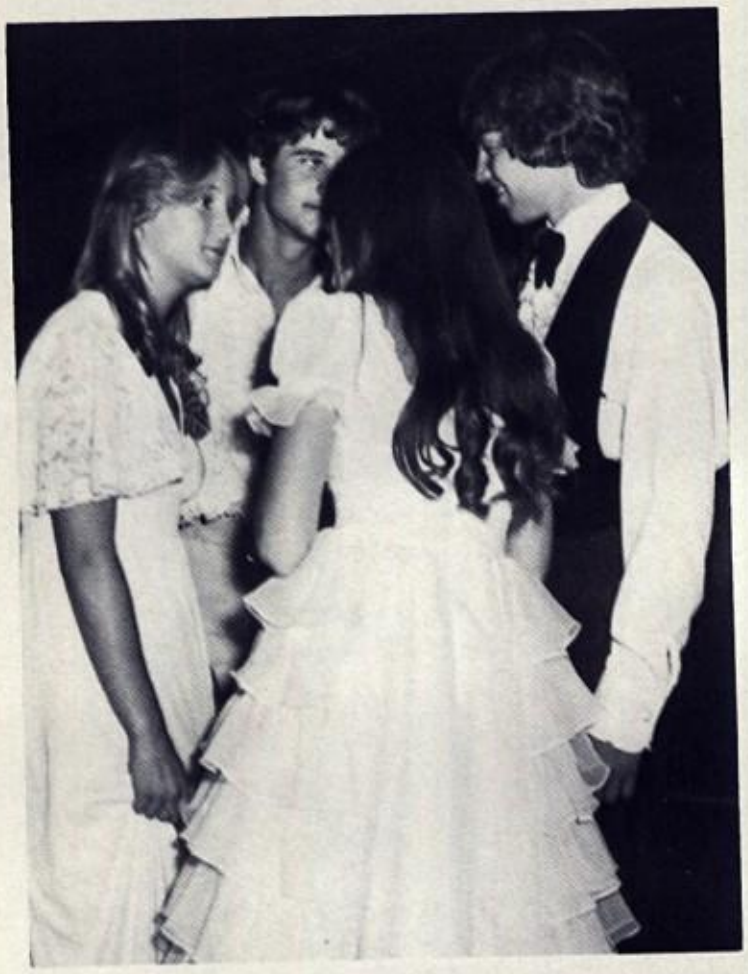
EVERY MOMENT A MEMORY

Below — Sharing the evening's excitement are Peg Scholl, Don Shaw, Kim Graves, and Scott Radcliff.



The date May 21, had been set for the Junior-Senior Prom. Little did the juniors know how much work and preparation they had ahead of them. Magazines were sold and a volleyball tournament was held to raise money.

With a box full of rainbow colored crepe paper, piles of cardboard stars, and rolls of mylar, the juniors began getting a vague idea of how they were going to transform the gym into a "world of color."

The week before prom came and the traditional last minute rush began. The fountain was found and after a frantic trip to Columbus, a mirror ball was obtained. The arrival of the prom booklets the day before the dance brought a tremendous sigh of relief.

The decorating began on Friday after school. At 2:30 it seemed like too much to be done, but by 7:30 it began to take shape. At 12:30 the crepe paper and stars were draped across the ceiling, the lights were set up, the fountain was together, and the tables were ready. Finishing touches were added Saturday morning.

Above — Anne Smith and Jeff Karshner listen to the band and watch other couples dance in the reflection of the mirror ball.

At 8:00 the doors opened and within the next half hour the music of "Pure Pleasure" filled the colorful dance room. The rainbow and clouds behind the fountains caught the attention of many as they entered through the arch.

For Jackie Rahe and Scott Daily the warm May evening was extra special as their names were announced as prom King and Queen.

At midnight the dance was over, but the night had just begun. After-prom was held at Shawnee Bowling Lanes until 3:30 A.M. For some it was on to Lynn Blevins' house for a swim, for others it was breakfast at Jacinta Marks' house, and those who couldn't last the entire night went home.

That special evening had to end, but the special memories will always be there to "Color Our World" forever.

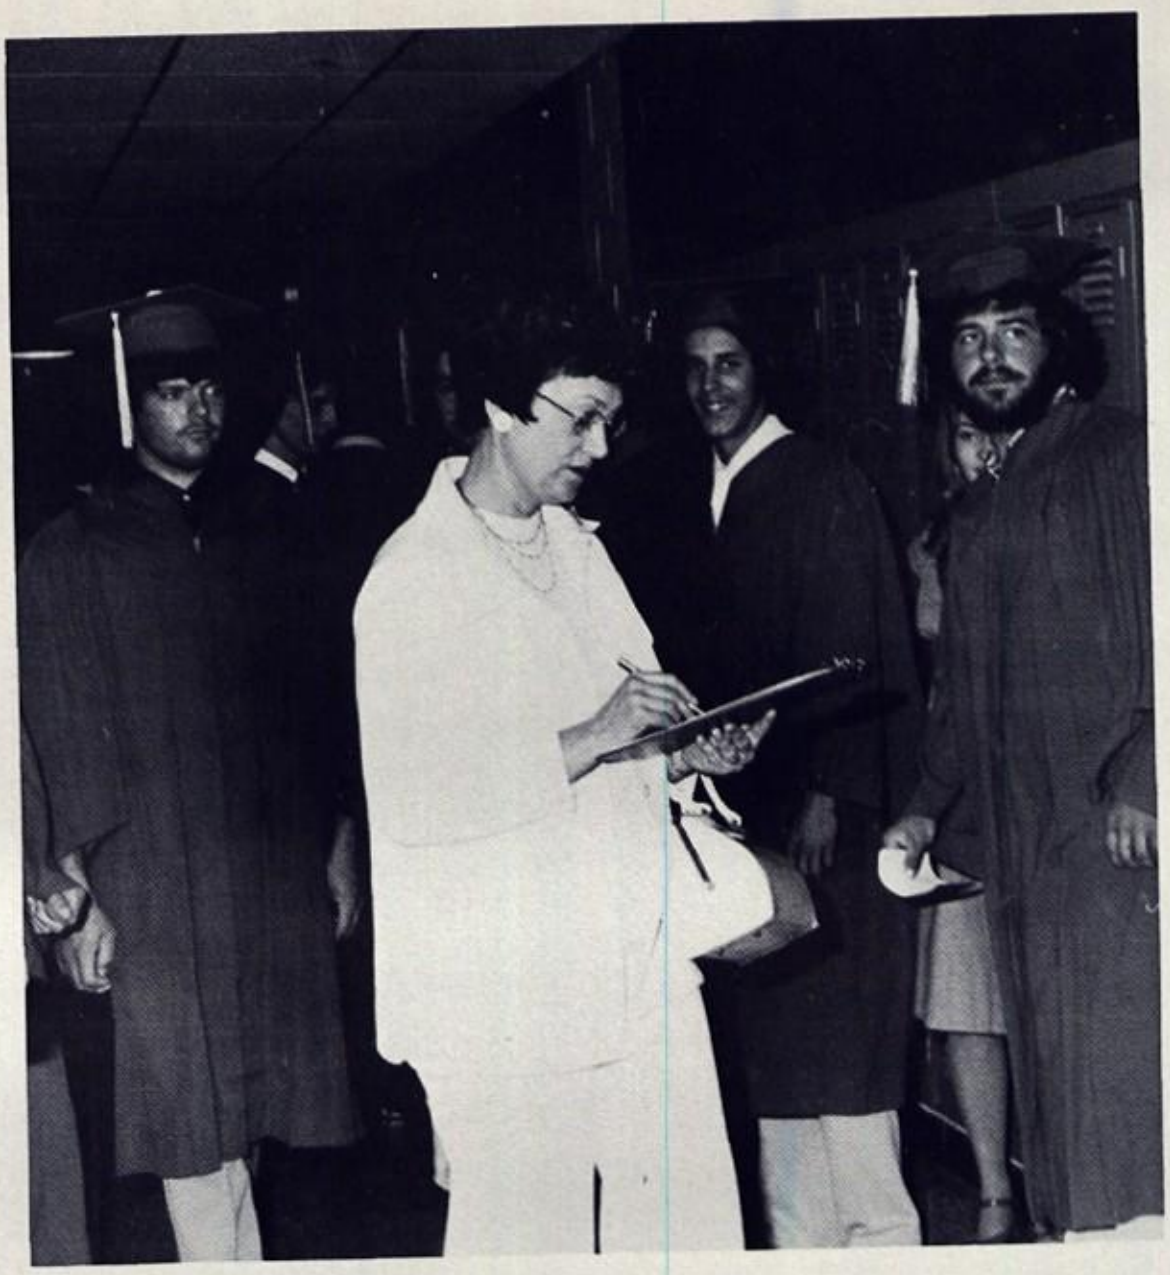
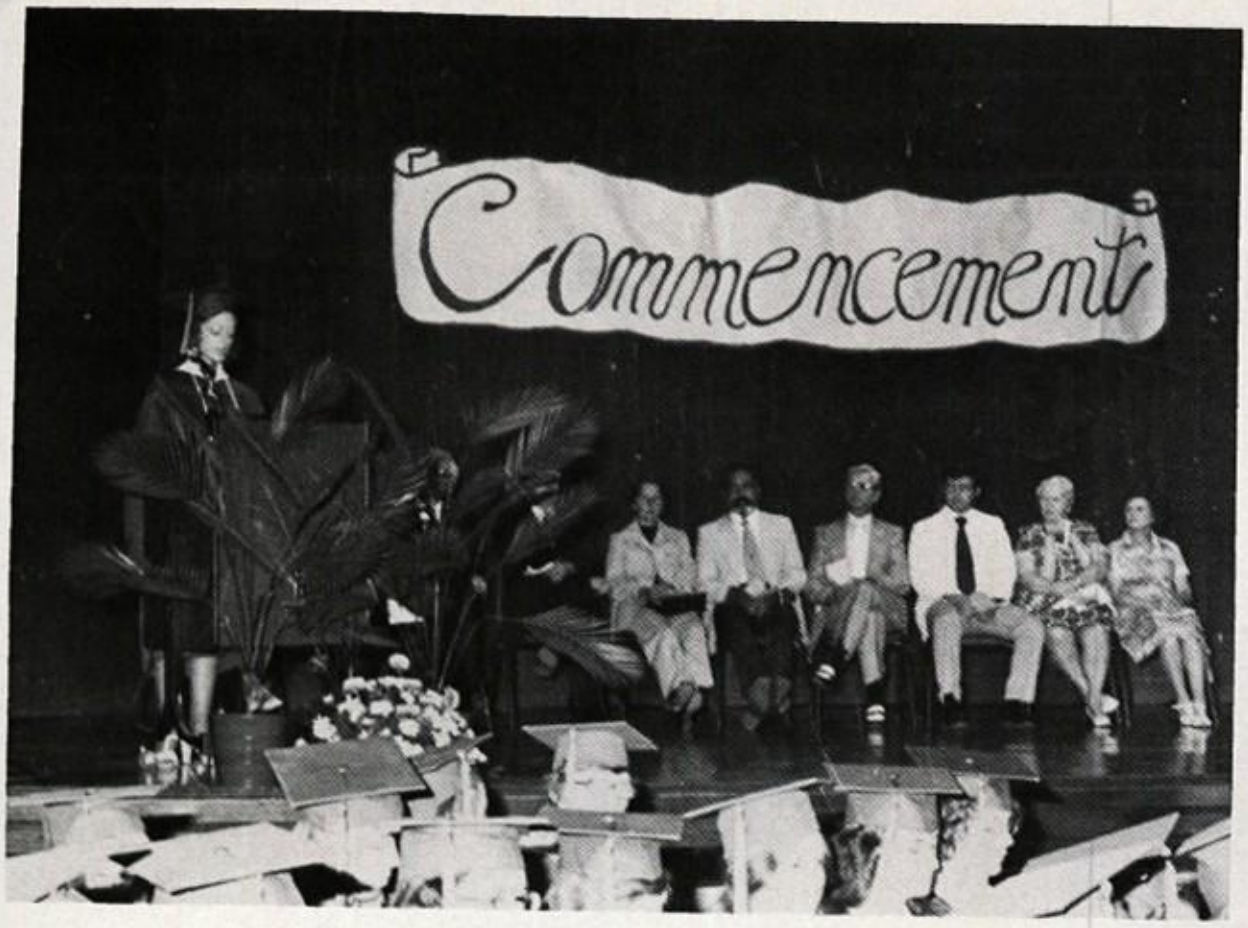
Miss Krebs tries to line up the boys one final time even though her attempts are futile.

Mark Ray happily receives the Alumni Scholarship Award.



Everyone rises to honor the Class of 1977 as they file in.

Mrs. Graves hands Becky Barrow the Elizabeth Fox Scholarship Award.



In her Valedictory address, Jacinta Marks reminds the graduates that they are no longer in the "shadows" of Unioto.

"Well we finally made it . . .," states Lynn Blevins in her salutatory address.

SENIORS LOOK AHEAD, BUT . . .

After being in the "shadows" of Unioto for over twelve long years, it was time to say goodbye. One hundred and eighteen seniors, as well as friends, relatives, and teachers, gathered in the gym to witness the graduation of the Class of "77."

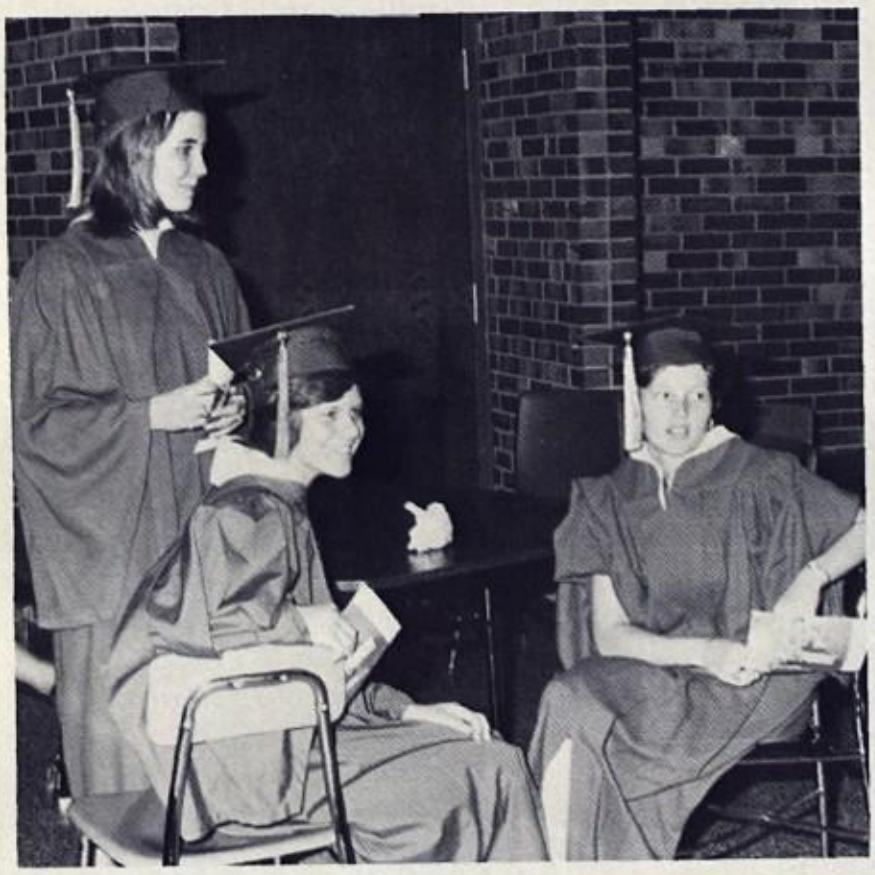
Awards were presented to various members of the class. Becky Barrow received the Elizabeth Fox Award and the Alumni Scholarship went to Mark Ray. Craig Willis was honored for his perfect attendance during his entire school career.

Salutatory and valedictory speeches were given by Lynn Blevins and Jacinta Marks respectively.

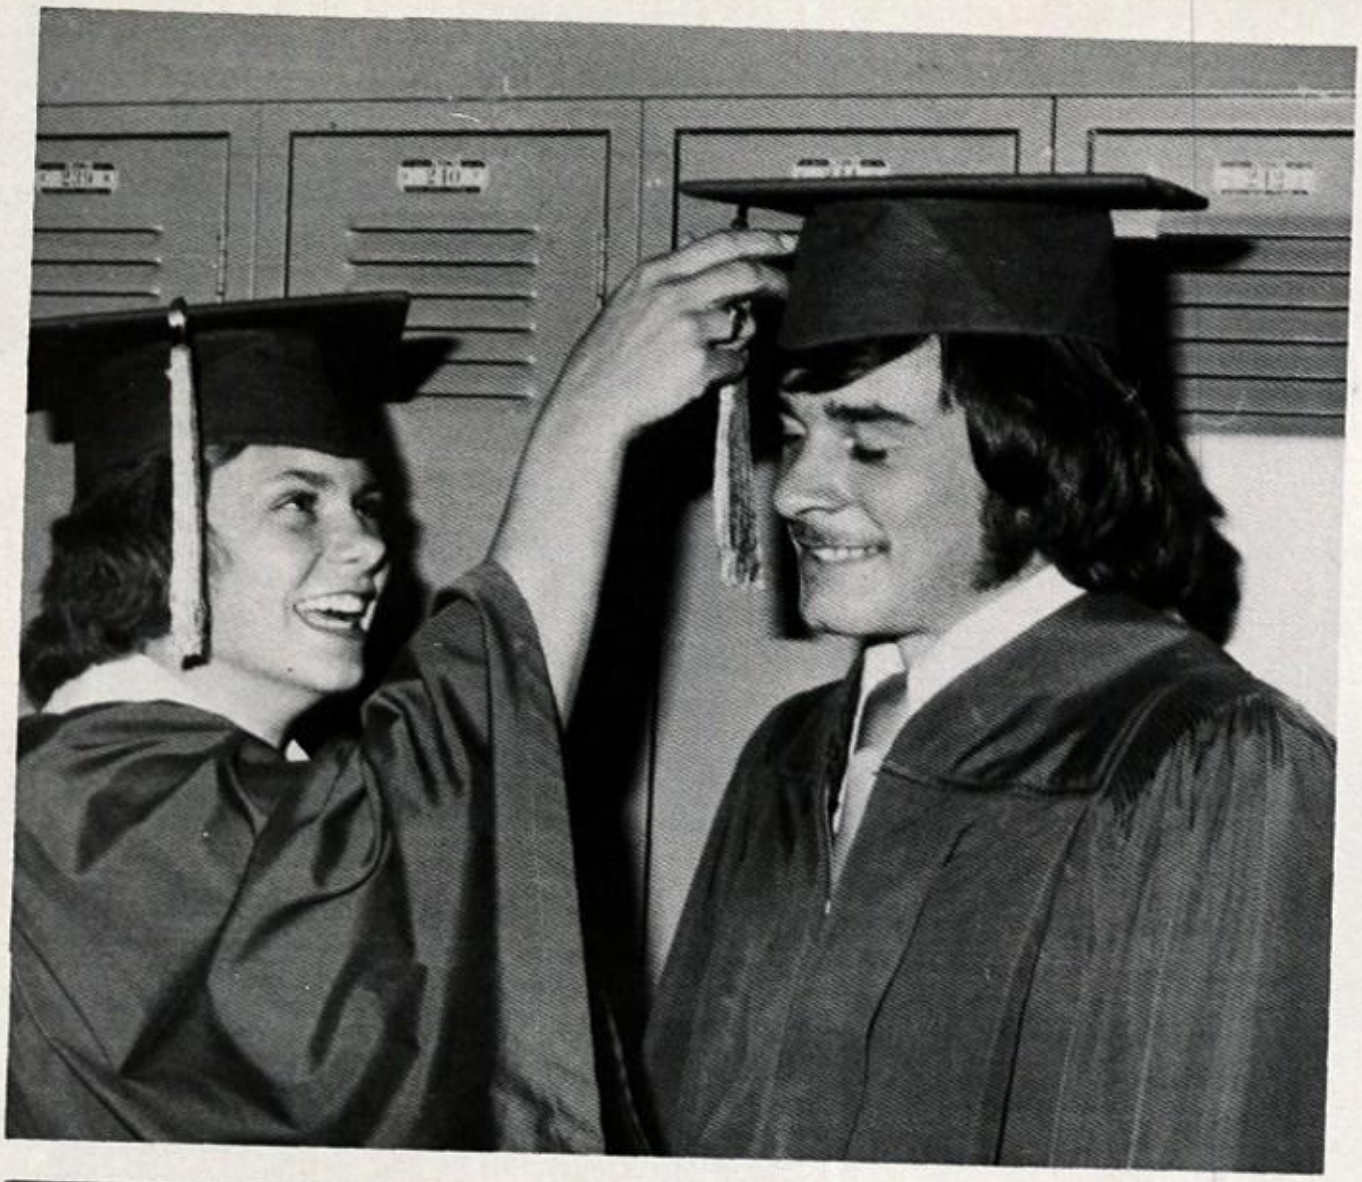
The highlight of the entire program came when each senior walked across the stage to receive his diploma, rose, and a handshake.

Their lives in the shadows of Unioto came to an end, and as the graduating class marched from the gym one could see looks of hope, fear, and anticipation on their faces as they realized that one part of their lives was over and another was just beginning.

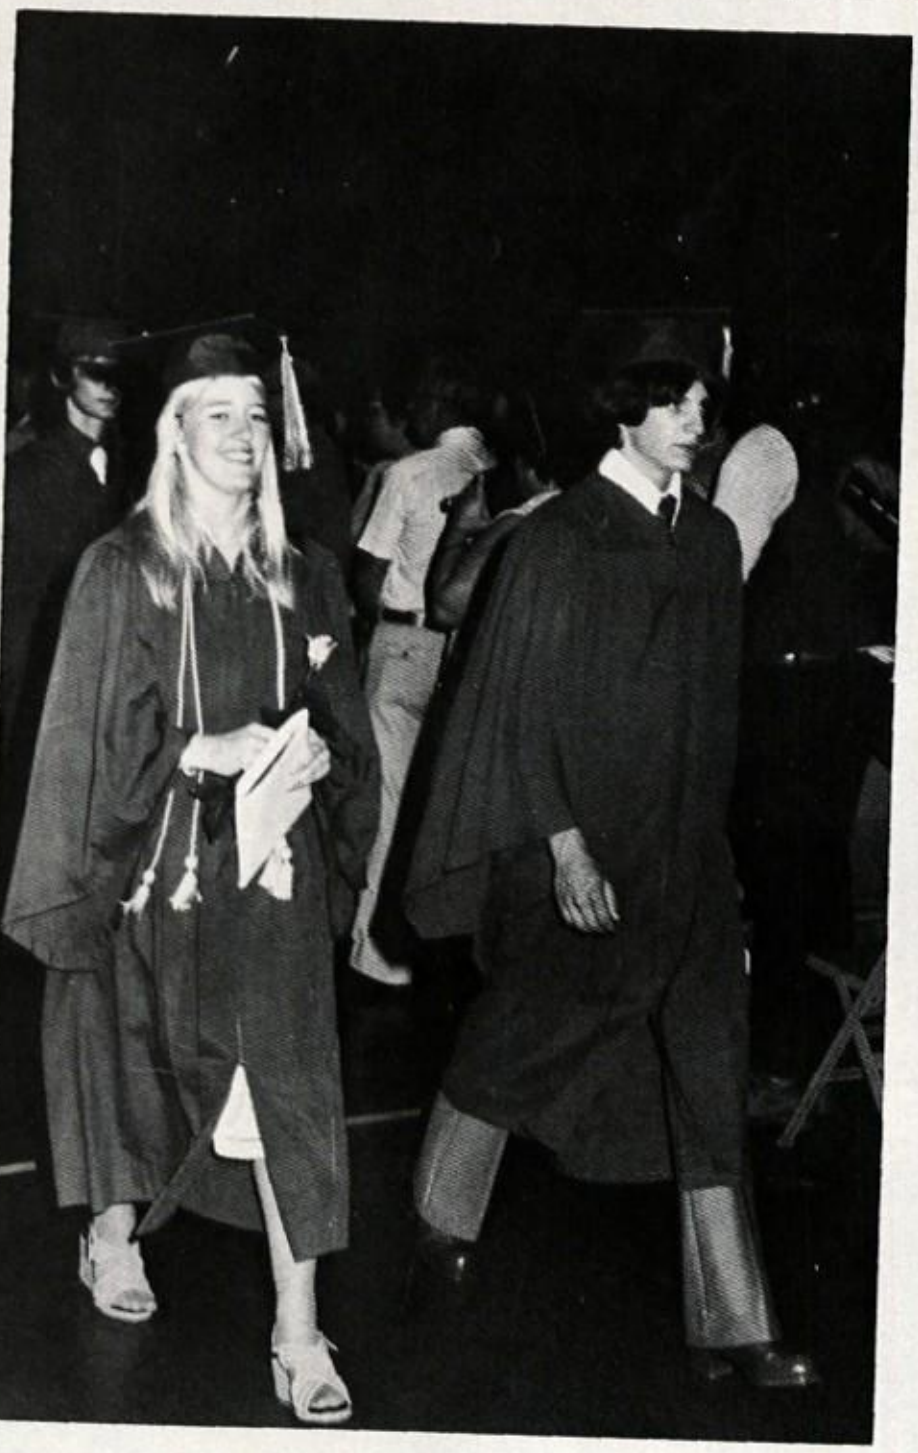
LEAVE A FRIEND BEHIND

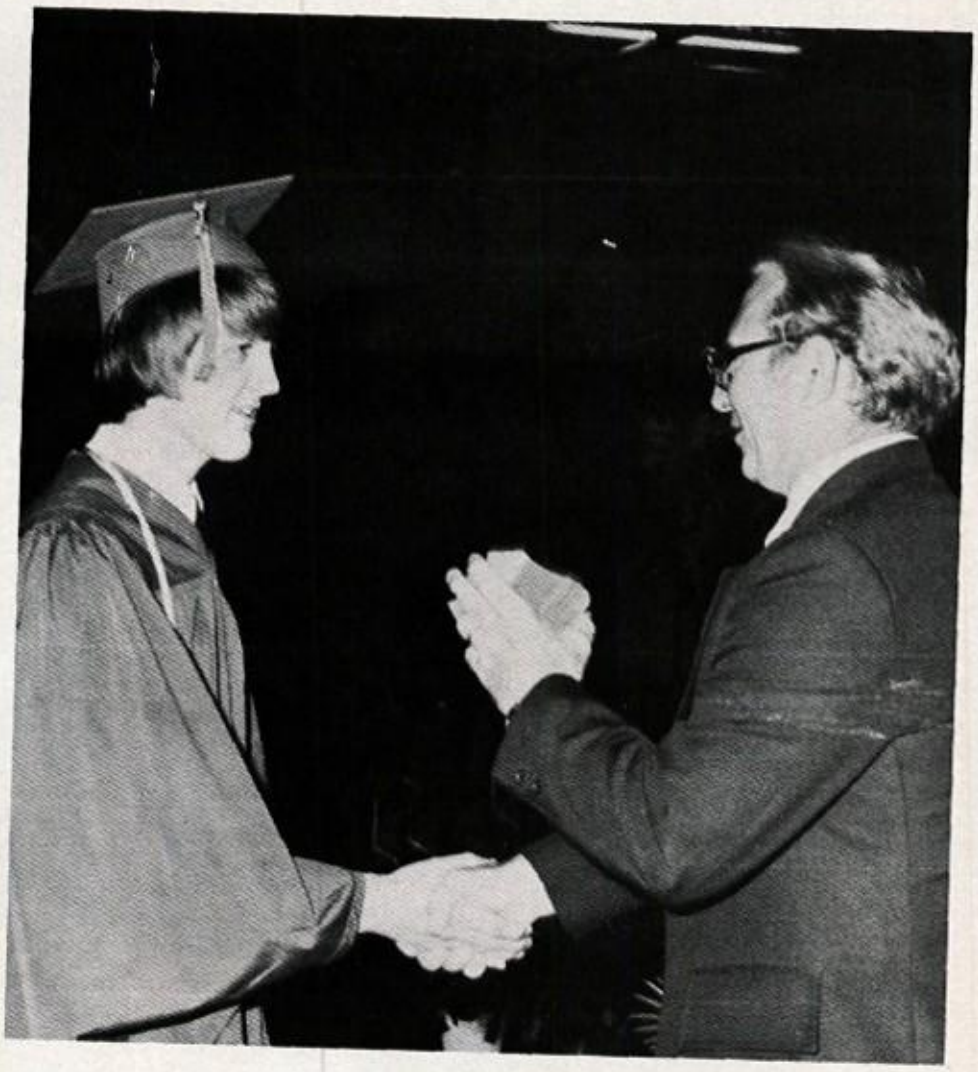


After the Senior Ensemble sings "The Way We Were" and "Movin' On," they lead the rest of the graduates in the Alma Mater.



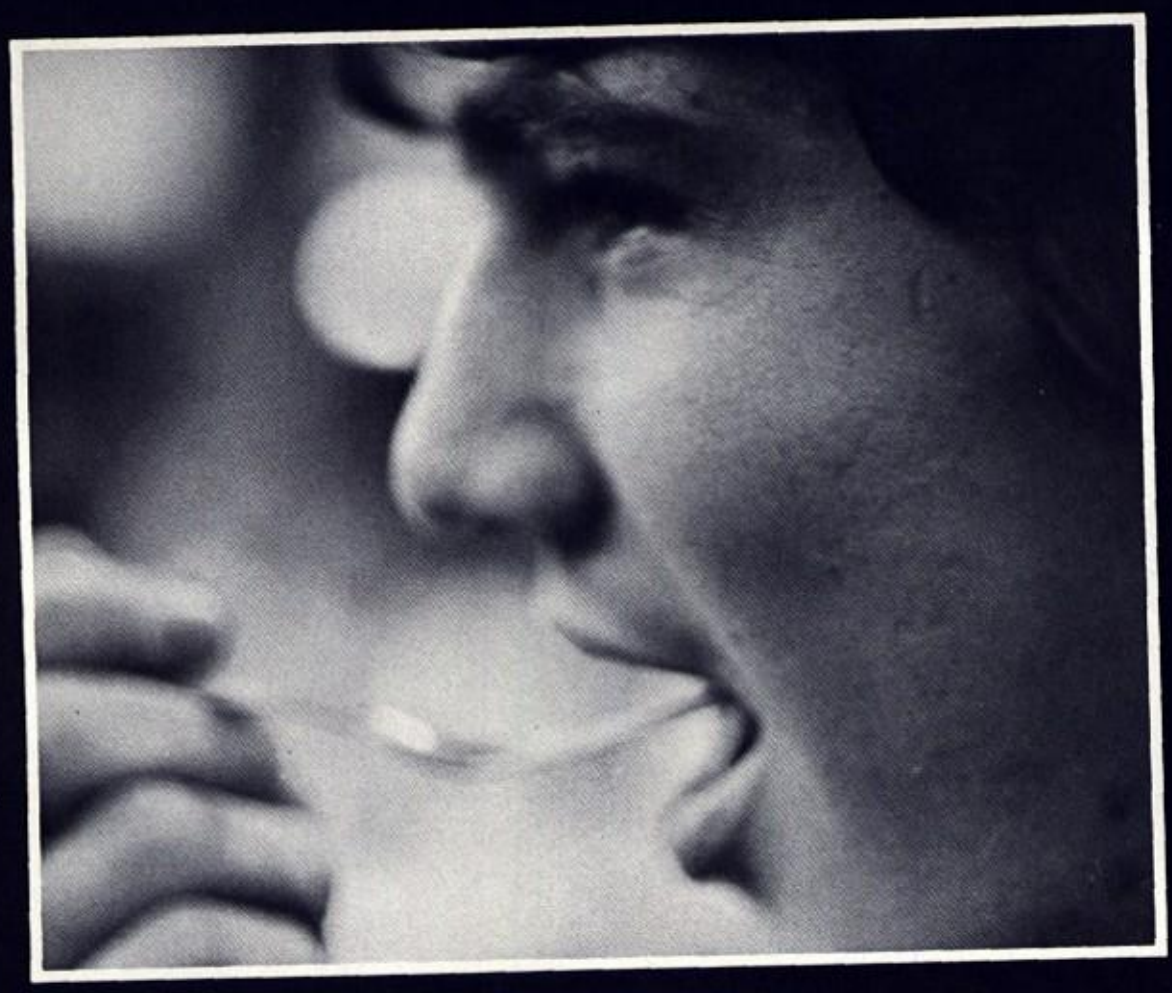
Lynn Blevins straightens Scott Daily's tassel so he is sure to look his best for the ceremony.





Through snow, sleet, hail, and even Senior skip days, Craig Willis manages to keep his perfect attendance record in tact.

Cathy Rebman and Tom Dumm anticipate what the future may hold.



ONE AMONG MANY

Together . . . we are Unioto High, the students, faculty, and administration. Six hours a day, five days a week, we live in the same environment, eating the same lunchroom meals, walking the same halls, and following the same time schedule. We know who we are; we relate to the mention of the word "Shermans," the colors purple and gold, and the playing of the fight song. Together we support our school levy and survive the inconvenience of winter split-sessions in the elementary. Together . . . we are Unioto High.

Apart . . . we are individuals. Each person has his own identity. While people may be similar, no two are exactly alike. Everyone is free to do his own thing and is not required to live up to anyone's expectations, except his own. Individuality makes each person important. Apart . . . we are individuals.

BEHIND US NOW,

BUT WITH US ALWAYS

THE HIGH COMMAND

Right — Mr. DeAngelis applauds the parents, grandparents, and great grandparents of the graduating class.

Above — Board members Ercolo Picciano, Bill Smart, Superintendent Guy DeAngelis, James Wade, Velma Steel, Gerald Davis, and Joanna Haskins gather for a monthly meeting.

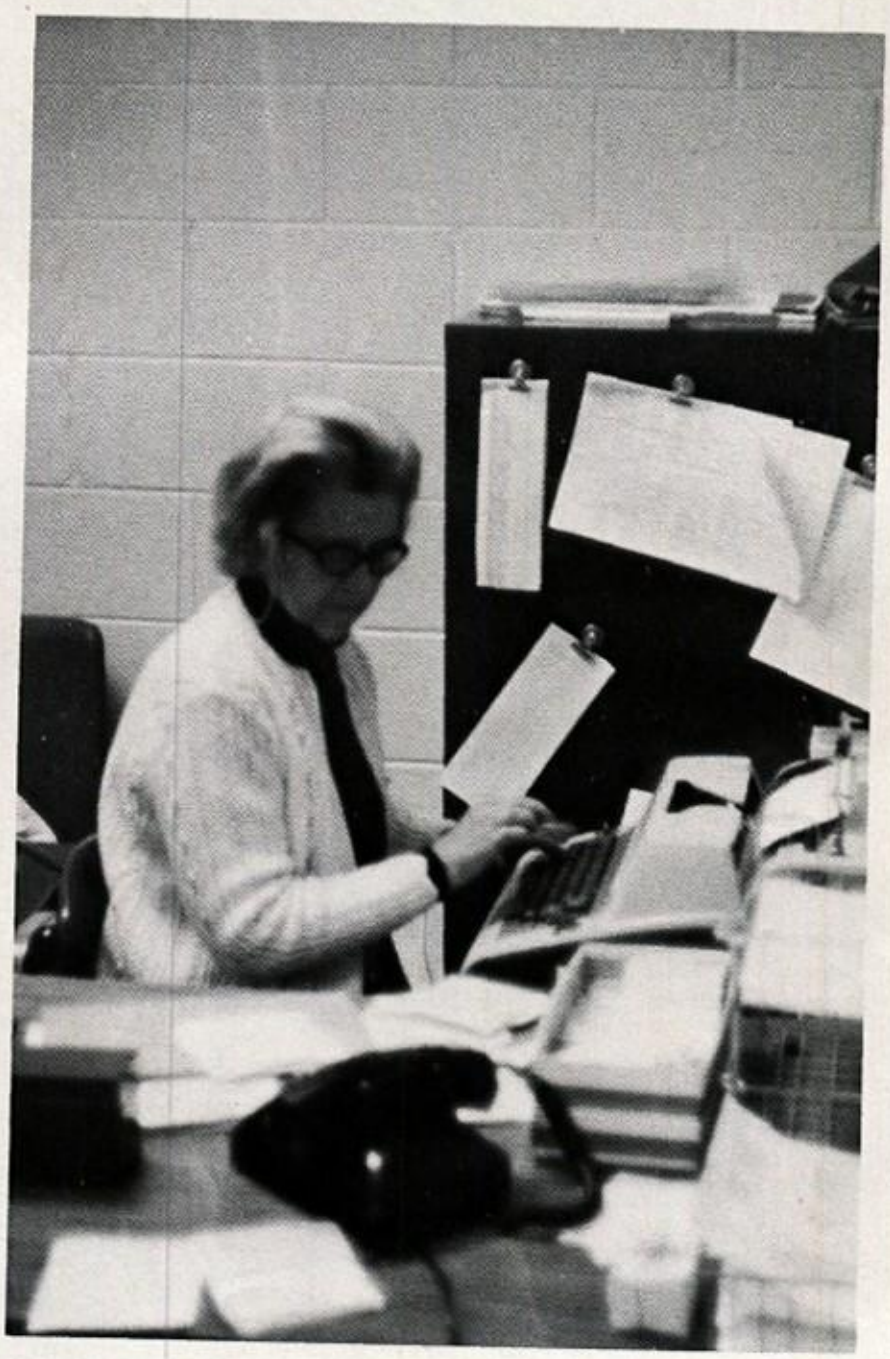
Right — Typing away, Mrs. Ruff finds the daily absence list getting longer as the school days wear on.



KNOWLEDGE

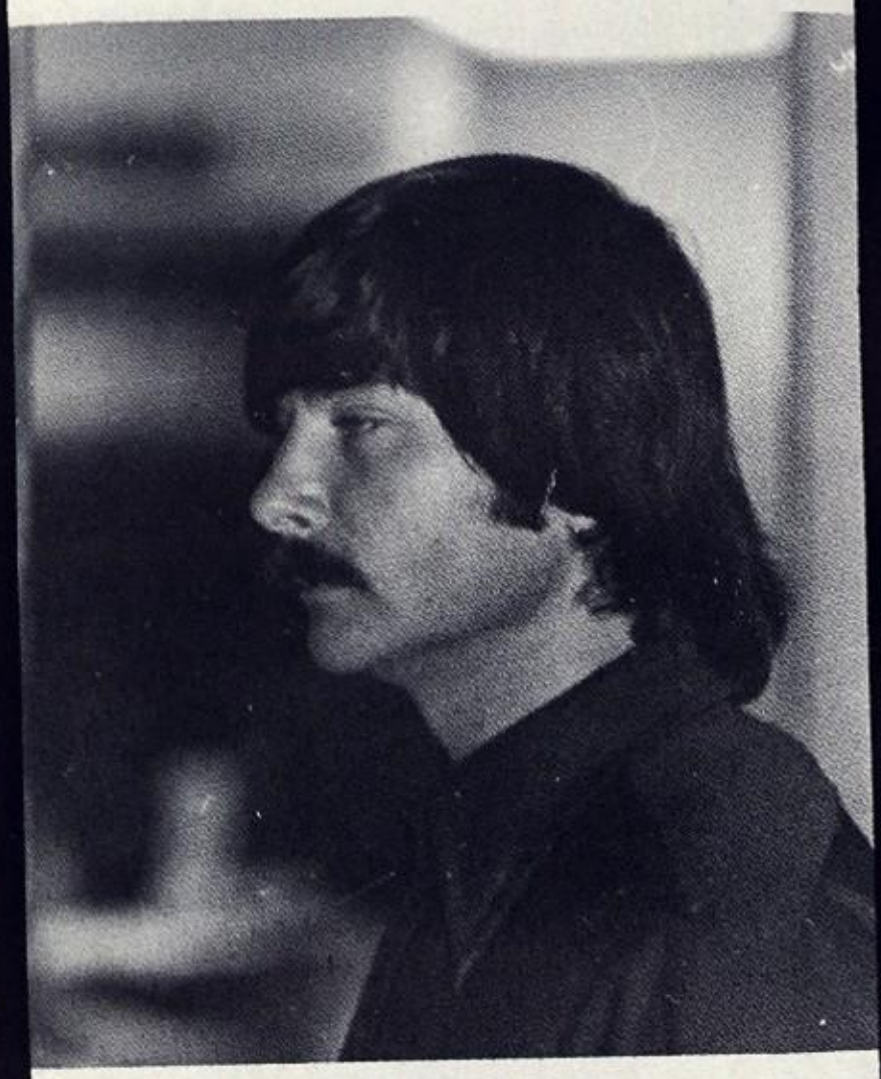
Mrs. Lodema Attaway, teacher of Jr. High English, can probably alphabetically name all the prepositions backwards or forwards and attempts to teach her students to do the same. Along with teaching grammar and her love of books, Mrs. Attaway enjoys collecting stamps and traveling.

A warm ever-ready smile no matter what the situation would identify Mrs. Rhoda Hannan by itself. With the task of being F.T.A. advisor, Mrs. Hannan teaches High School English courses.

KNOCKERS

Playing with children (at home and school both), reading, gardening, and feeding gerbils are Mrs. Judy Hoop's favorite pastimes. She also advises F.T.A. and teaches Jr. High and Freshman English.

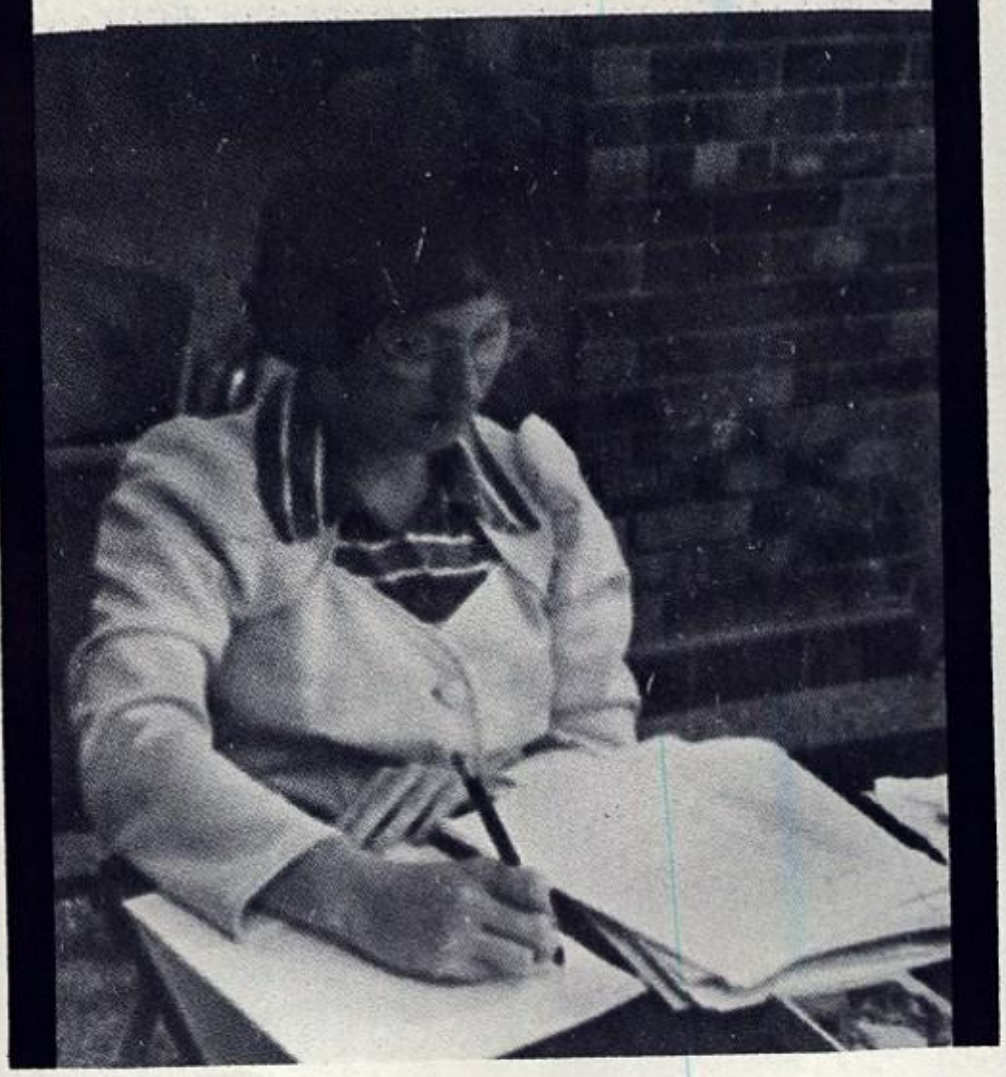
The lady with the "golden slippers" is Miss Jean Krebs, National Honor Society advisor and High School English teacher. Her list of extra activities includes pleasure reading, crocheting, and redecorating. ...



Jr. High Guidance Counselor Mr. John Pittenger teaches Jr. High Social Studies. Being coach of the Jr. High tennis team, his hobbies include playing tennis. Mr. Pittenger also enjoys doing electronic projects.

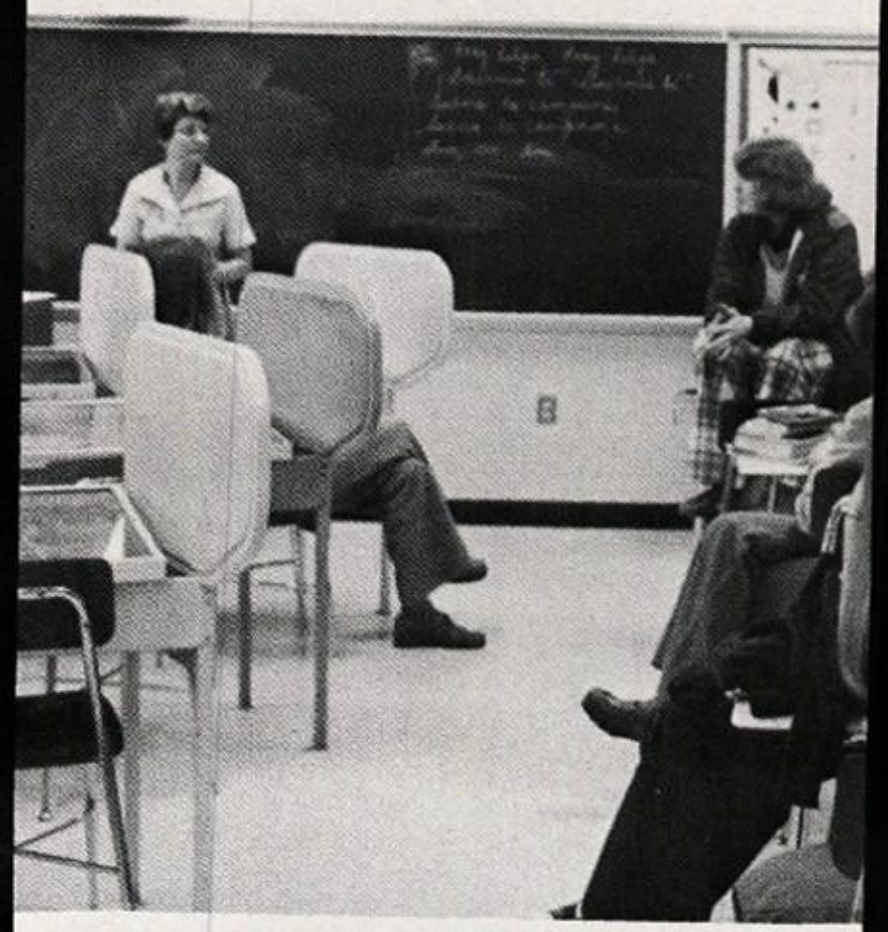
After teaching English to seventh and eighth graders, Mrs. Diana McFadden deserves a break every day with a trip to McDonalds.

Assisting Mrs. Stanford in the library is Mrs. Sue Phillips, who teaches Jr. High and Freshman English. She enjoys macrame; playing the piano, organ, recorder harpsichord; and gardening.



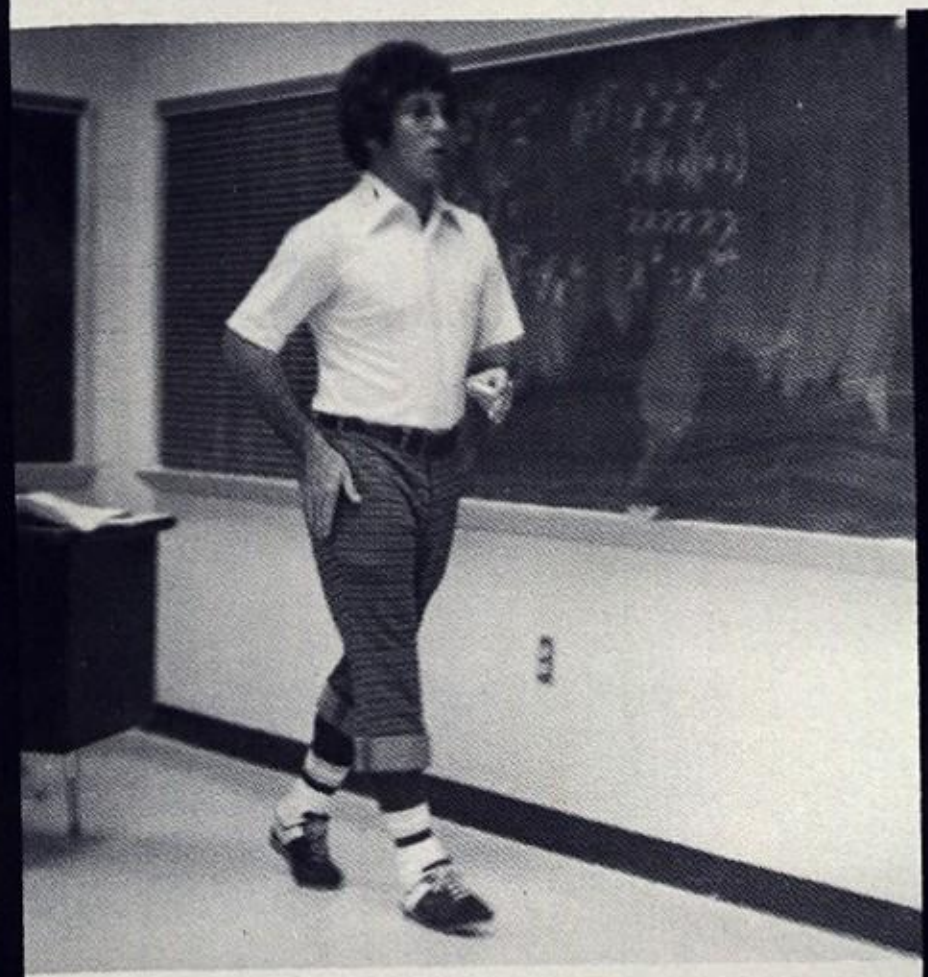
OUR HELPING HANDS

"Get quiet or I'll send you back to study hall" . . . "Only four to a table" . . . "Where's your pass?" These are just a few quotes of librarian, Mrs. Elizabeth Stanford. Naturally, she likes to read but among other things she does crocheting and gardening.



Mrs. Nellie Gomsi, who teaches Eighth Grade Spanish, High School Spanish and Jr. High social studies never lost track of the date because she always had her Aztec calendar to refer to.

"LET'S TRY IT AGAIN."



He has enough activities to stump an adding machine — if you tell him it can't be done he'll prove you wrong — he organized the "Get Rowdy Club" that helped revive school spirit — he was an active advisor of Student Council. Who else could it be but Mr. Mike Shoemaker, Varsity Football coach and teacher of Algebra, Applied Math and Math IV.

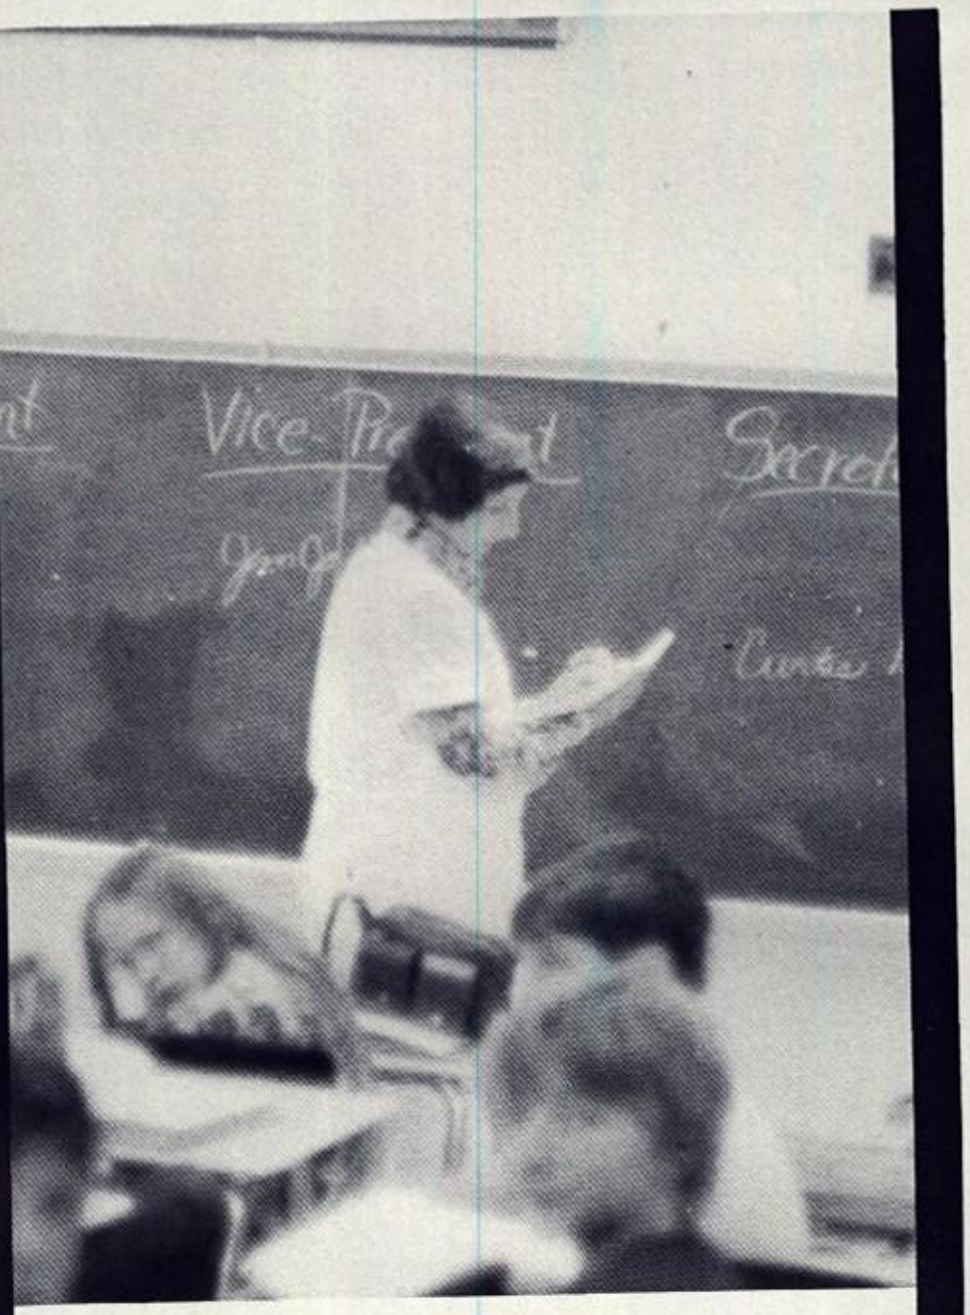
A teacher of Algebra and Geometry is Mrs. Dolores Mackley. To get away from all those proofs and figures, Mrs. Mackley enjoys sewing, crafts, cooking, knitting, and crocheting.

Shorthand, typing and attending her husband's basketball games are a few things Mrs. Pat Smith finds to do but in her spare time she likes to read, play bridge, and travel.

Miss Linda McDaniel is the High School Guidance Counselor. Aside from keeping track of all the students' pasts and futures, Miss McDaniel stays busy all year round coaching Volleyball, Girls Basketball, and Girls Track. When Miss McDaniel does find extra time she likes to spend it fishing or shopping.

"Spirit Inc.," Miss Peggy Murdoch, probably attended more football and basketball games, and other sports events than all the other teachers combined. Jr. High math teacher, Miss Murdoch, is kept more than busy advising cheerleaders, playing tennis, doing macrame, and traveling.

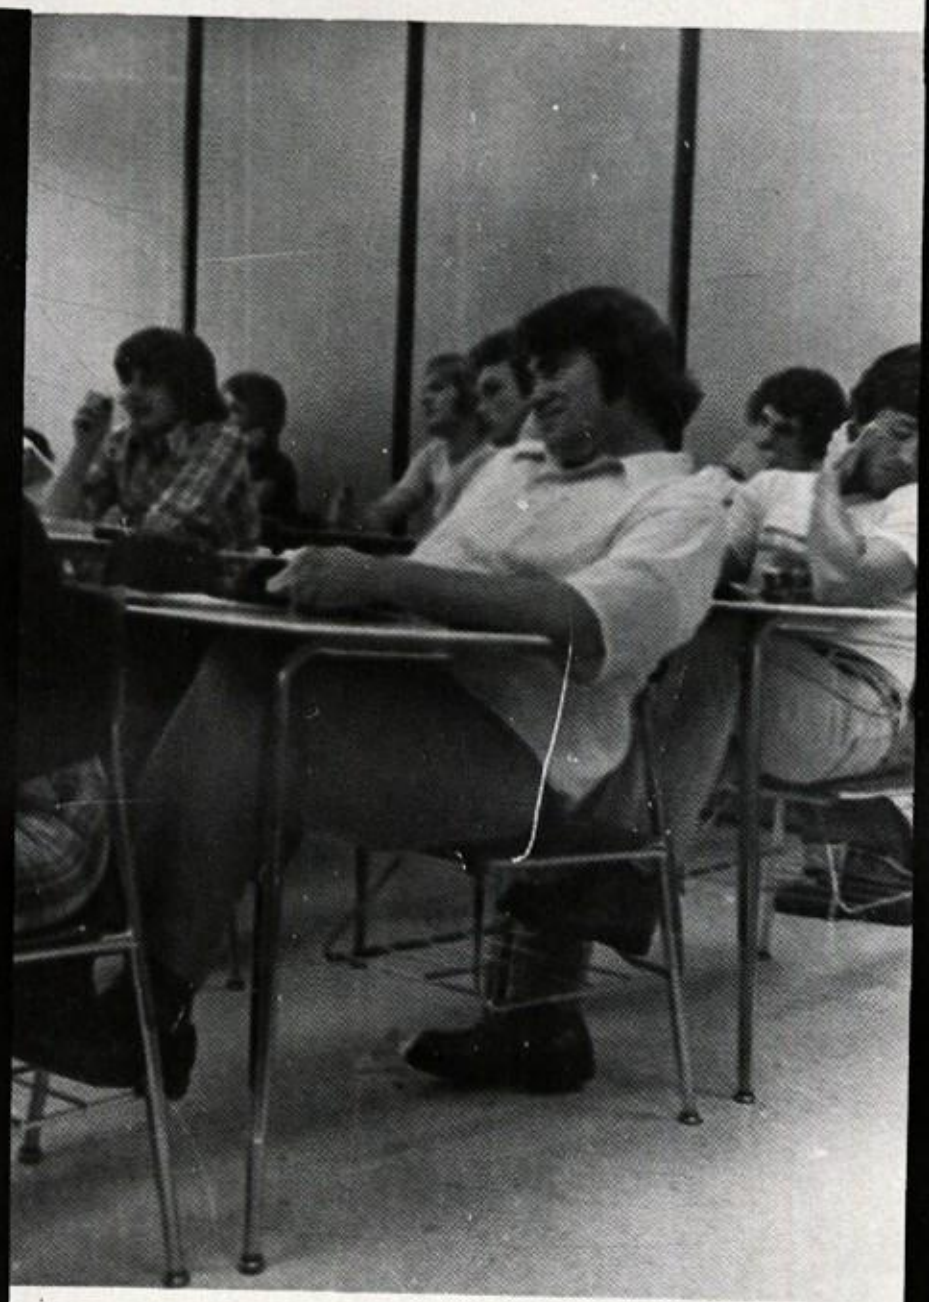
TOO MANY BOOKS



Mrs. Sally Shoemaker is a teacher of Jr. High social studies, and becoming a new mother was the most exciting event of her year.

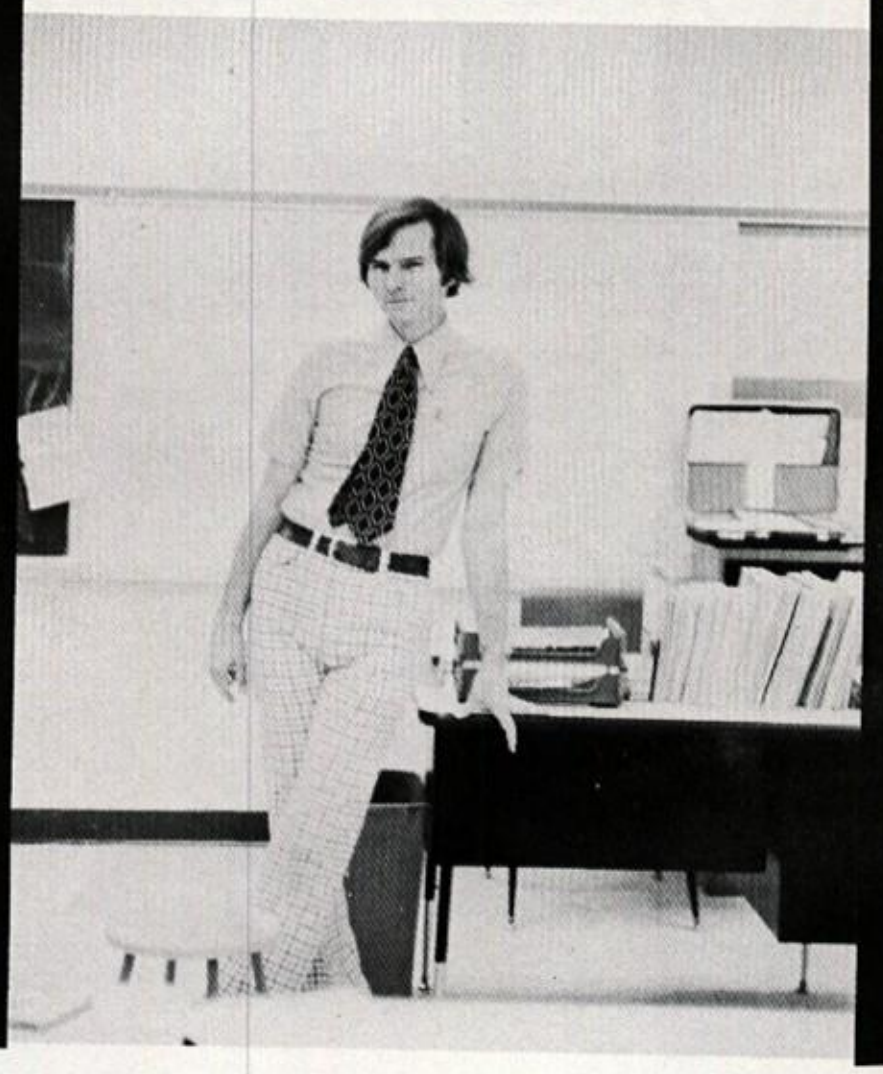
Jr. High Basketball coach and teacher of American History and Government, Mr. Steve Swan is an expert when it comes to giving dictation. You can always hear him repeating his motto — "FAIR IS NOT A WORD."

DISTRACT THE MIND

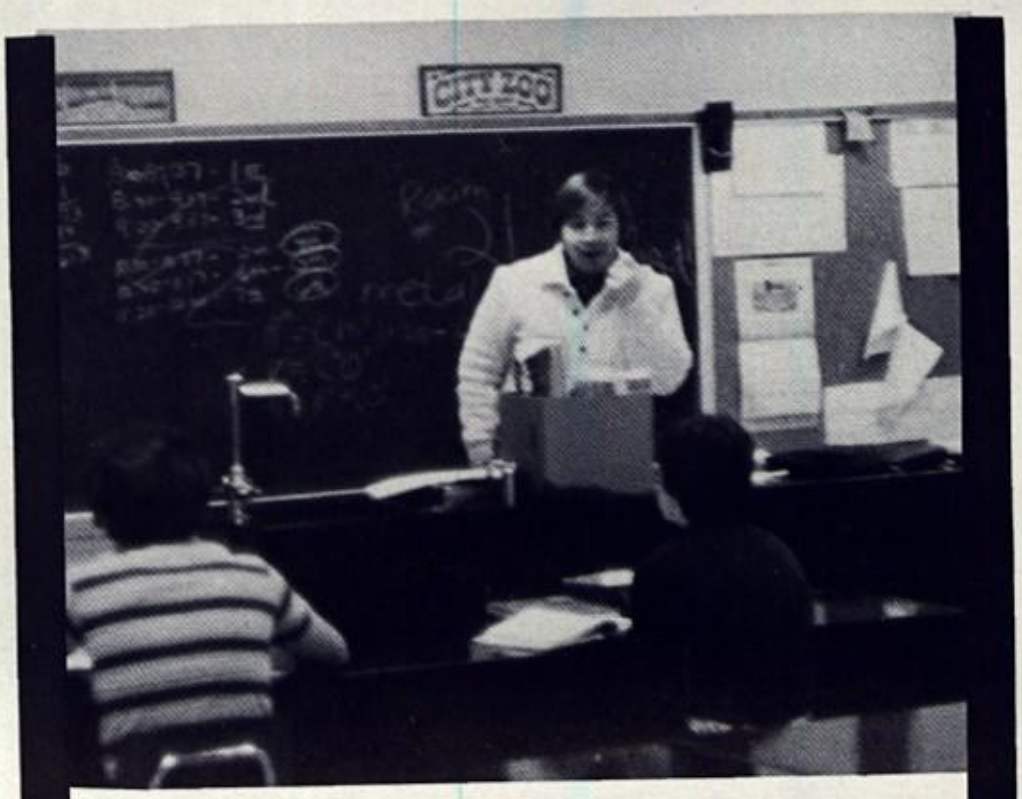


Director of the presentation "Flowers for Algernon," Drama Club advisor, World History, Sociology and Psychology teacher, and advisor of Algernon Society is Mr. William Marsh. He made some of us suffer with a substitute while he flirted with the nurses in the hospital. Aside from being involved with the Marsh Insulation Company (plug), he likes to travel, read, go canoeing, fish, etc., etc., etc.

Varsity Golf coach and Reserve Basketball coach, Mr. Jeff Smith teaches Special Education. Outside his sports activities, Mr. Smith enjoys carpentry.



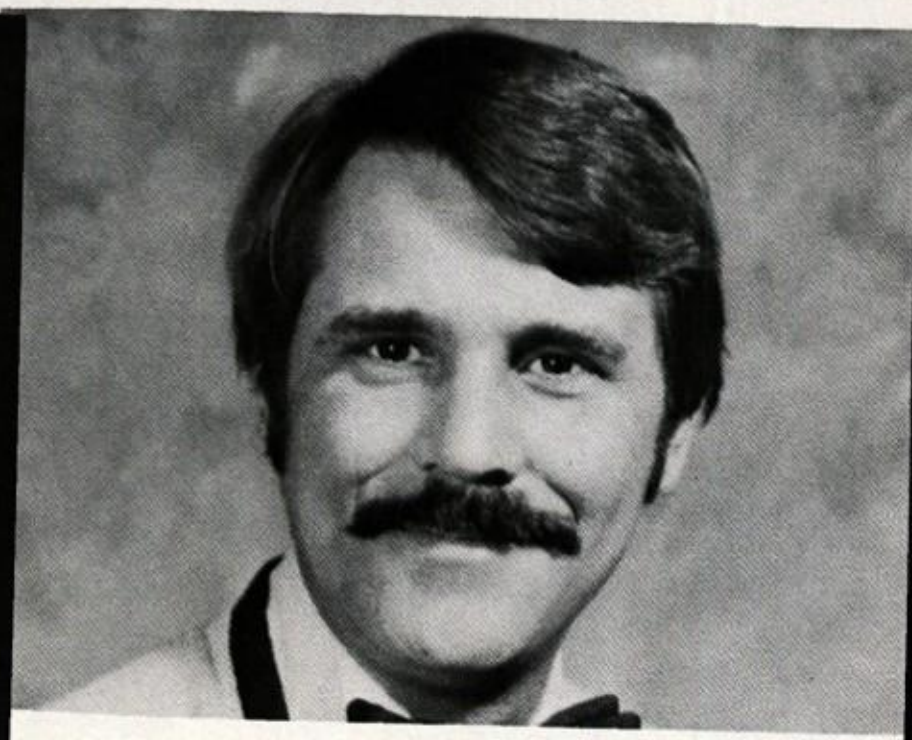
SCIENCE-TRAINED AND



The ability to teach Jr. High Science, coaching football, and a sense of humor are all packed into Mr. Alex Mace. In addition to these qualities he was the conductor and star performer of the "Kazoo Band."

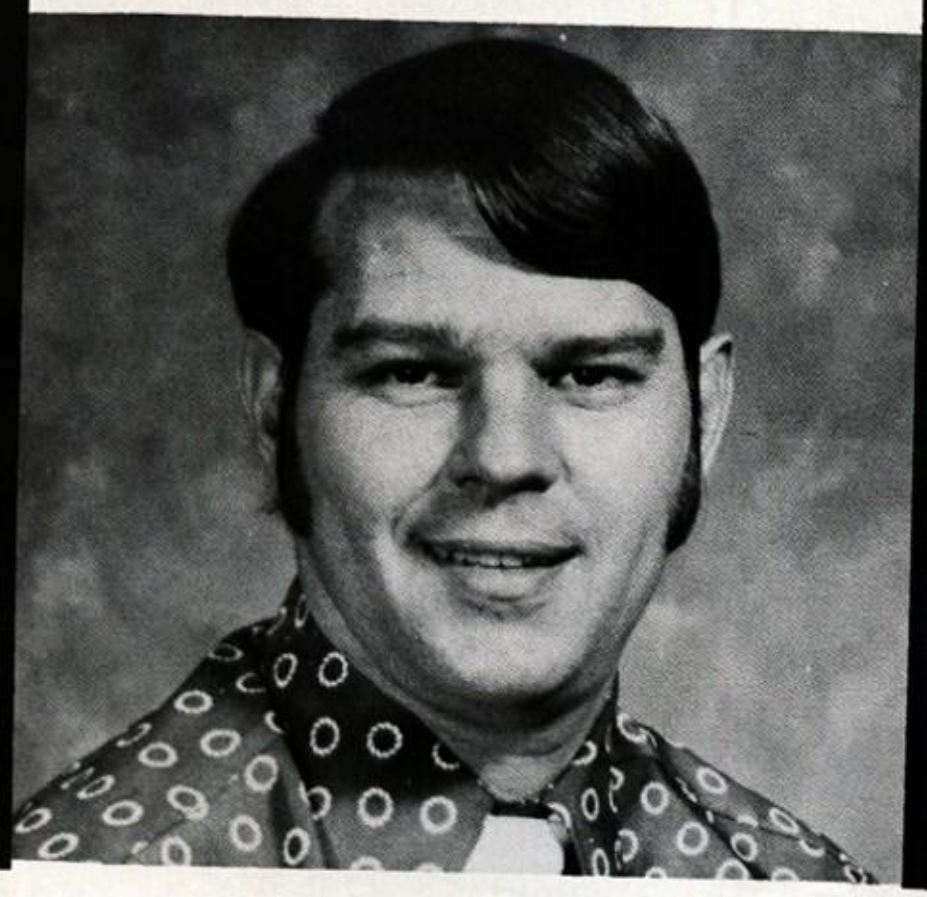
Athletic Director, Mr. Robert Uhrig, teaches Chemistry, Physics, and General Science. He always has the right formula for making the athletic functions run smoothly.

ORGANIZED COMMON SENSE



Gardening and crafts are a couple of his hobbies, but being a Frankfort resident, Mr. Dan Wade is active in community affairs such as the Emergency Squad Village Council. At school Mr. Wade teaches Special Education, coaches Jr. High Track, and is Assistant Football coach.

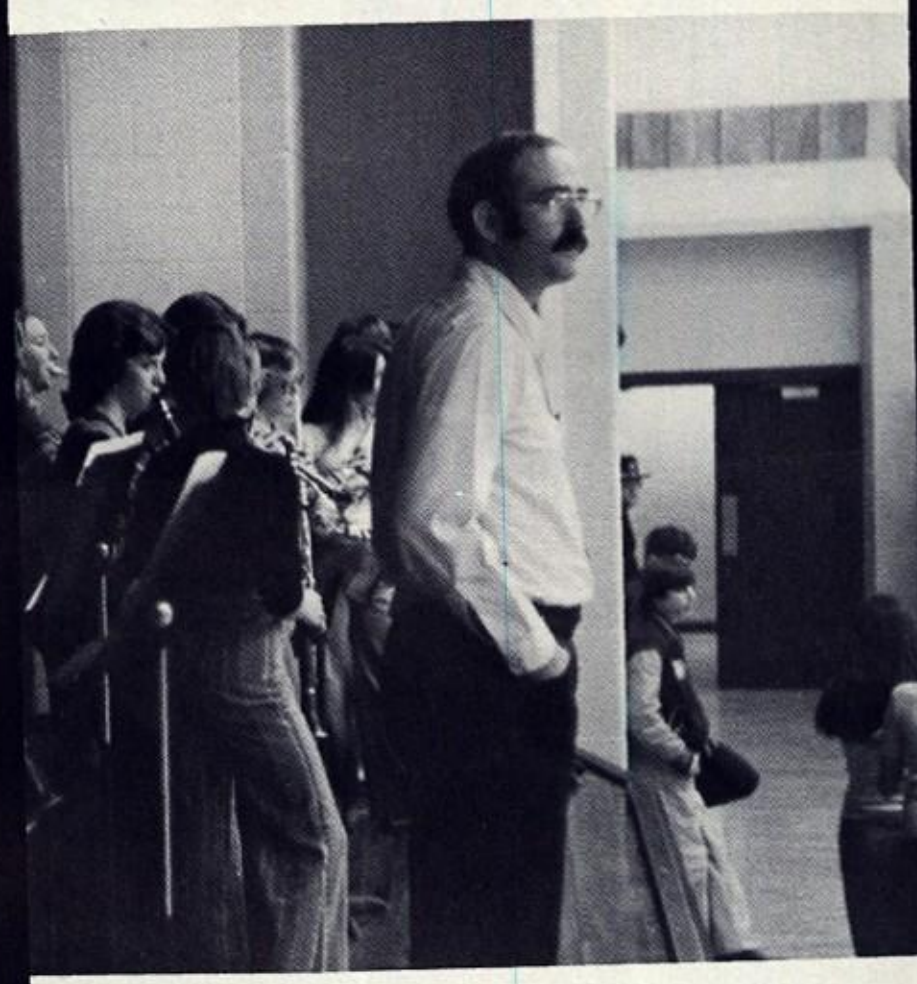
O.W.E. seems to keep Mr. Dean Forcum occupied but he also takes time out to buy and sell Real Estate.



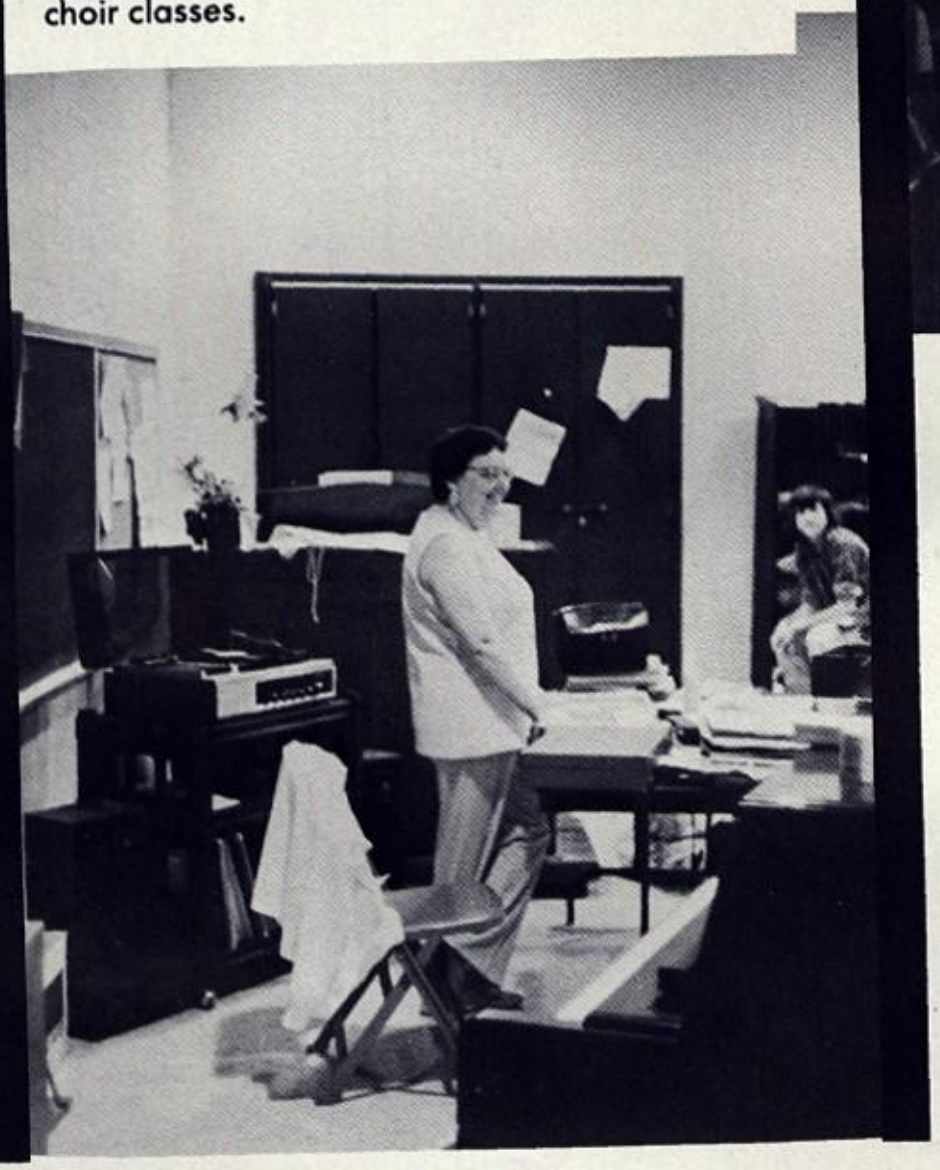
Varsity Track coach, Mr. Warren Whitaker, teaches Biology and General Science. You can always tell when track is in season when Coach Whit starts wearing his favorite piece of jewelry, a stopwatch. Running, hunting, selling insurance, and gardening are a few of his pastimes.

THOSE WHO

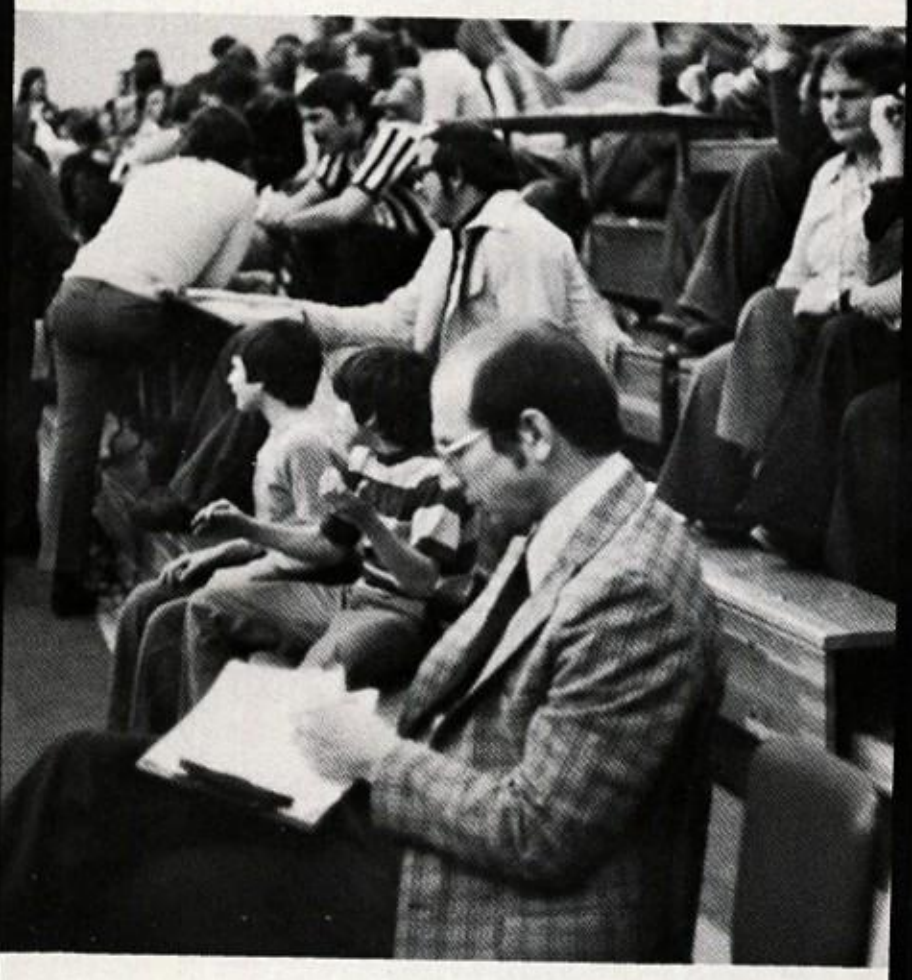
Band Director for both Jr. and Sr. High, and eighth grade music teacher, Mr. John Zajdel, begins his school year in August with marching band practice. On the days he isn't listening to squeaking clarinets, beating drums, and trumpet blasts, he likes to go fishing.



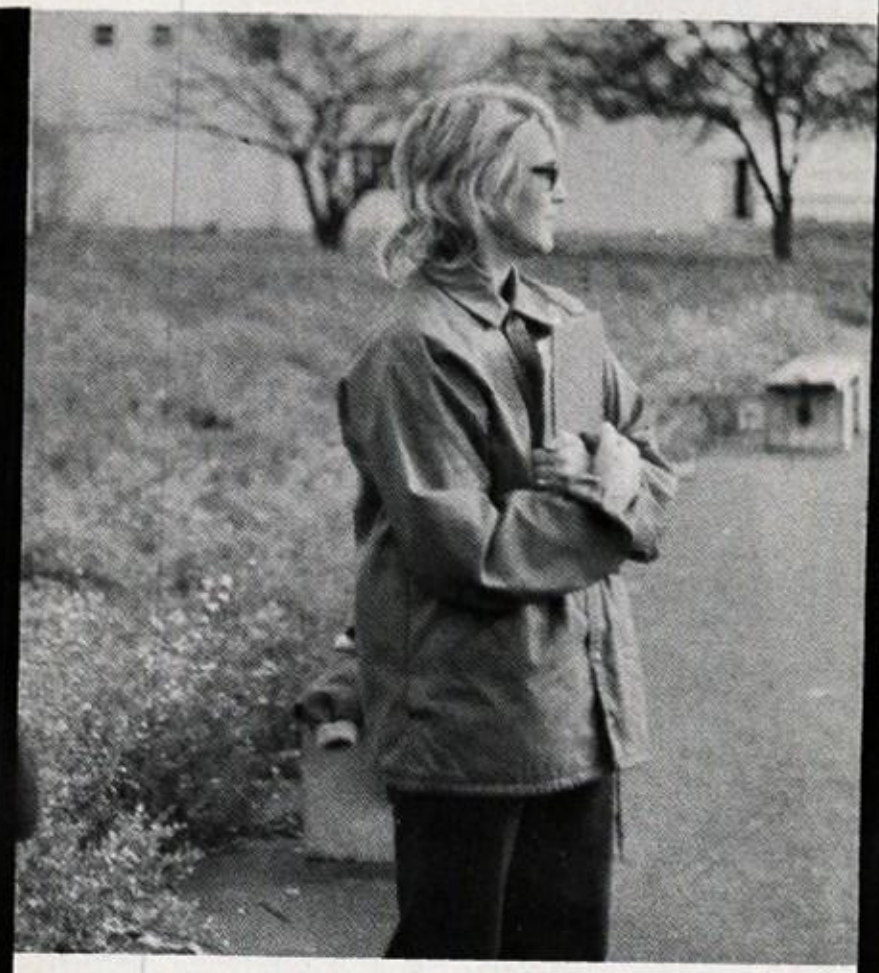
Breaking her arm kept her from playing the piano but Miss Joanne Valentine kept the tunes coming from her Jr. High music and High School choir classes.



CONDUCT AND CONTROL



Keeping in shape is the main objective of the boy's health and gym teacher. Mr. Dave Warne assisted in coaching Varsity Football and was head Basketball coach.

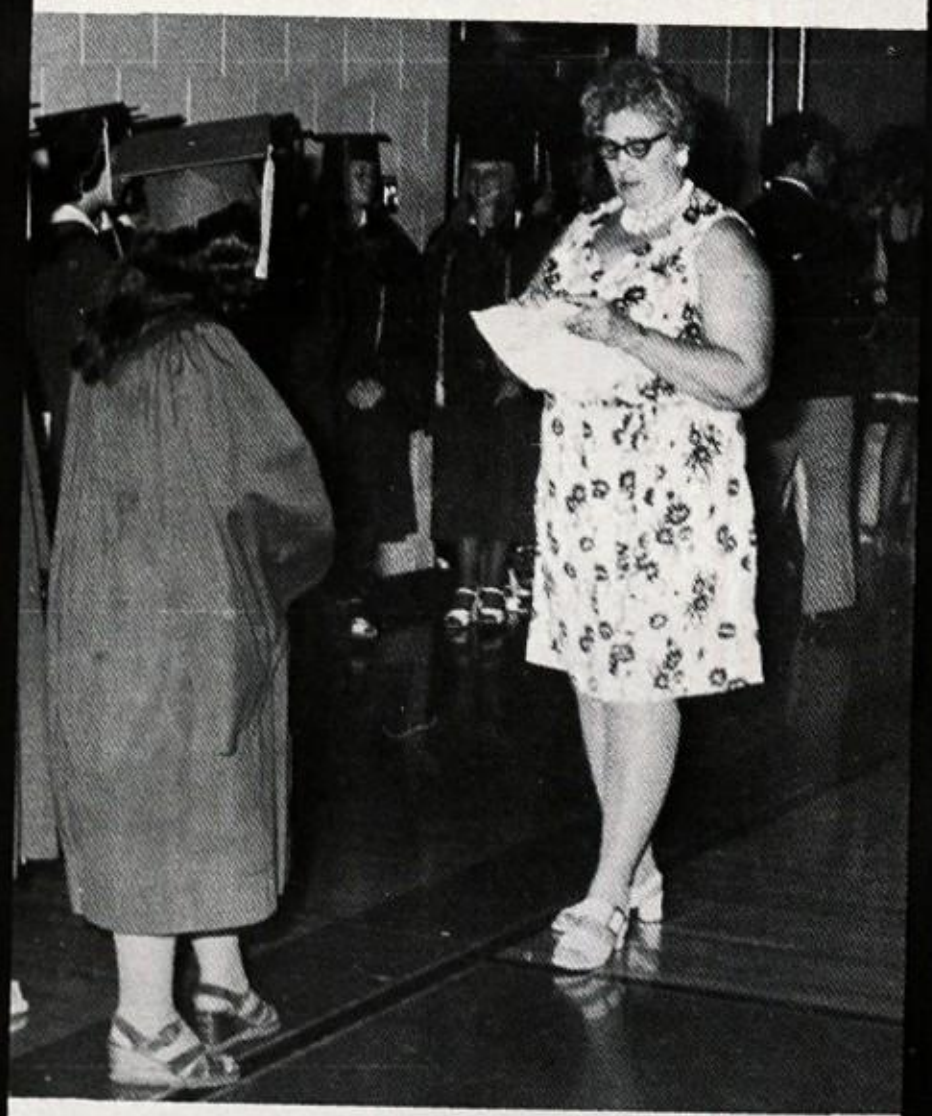


Best remembered for losing things, the tennis team and their awards to name just a few, Mrs. Leoma Straight coaches the Varsity and Reserve Tennis teams and teaches girls physical education and health. Mrs. Straight keeps active in tennis and swimming and relaxes by reading and playing the piano.

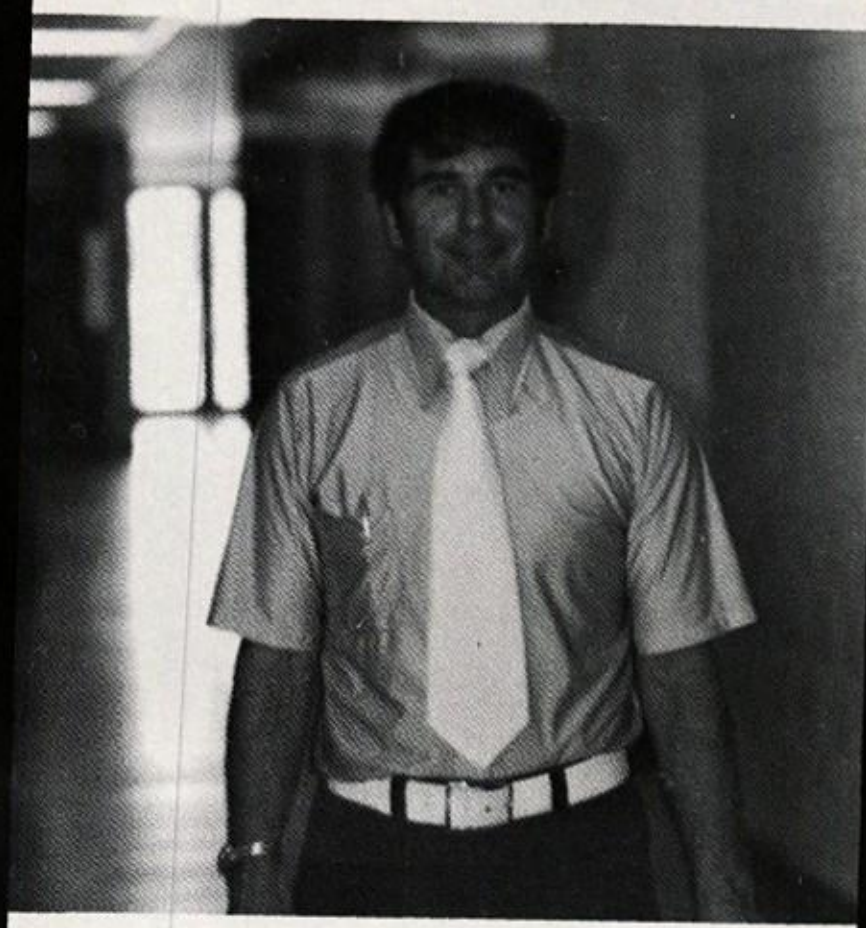
TEACHERS ARE PATTERNS

Getting down all the stats for the baseball team is Miss Carole Junk who teaches all Art classes. Her list of favorite activities includes sewing, bicycling, and of course, painting and drawing.

Activities by the gross are fine, but Home Economics teacher Mrs. Emily Marks seems to add an unexpected responsibility to her list every day — whether it's sewing up a broken zipper in a matter of seconds or baking an enormous batch of cookies for a program the next night. Her recipe may have come from deep down in the Home Ec. Lab: just a pinch of plan, and a dash of deliberation, stirred well in a frenzy of activity.



Mrs. Beatrice Morris means business when she is in class teaching typing or bookkeeping or record-keeping. But out of class she takes pleasure in reading, sewing, embroidering quilts, and knitting.



Varsity Baseball Coach, Mr. Donald Neff, teaches Jr. High Science and Driver's Education. Considering he spends so much time in the Driver's Ed car, he must have a lot of experience in back seat driving.

FOR THAT 'JUST RIGHT' TOUCH

A couple of the cooks prepare some pudding for those who don't always eat what's served in the a la carte line.

Together . . . we are a team, built on enthusiasm and unity among all members, from the star player to the manager who is left holding the bag. Coaches provide training and guidance for a better team performance. They teach us new plays and techniques to prepare us for competition. Fans provide constant support throughout the seasons, whether we're winning or losing. Their support and faith in us as a team compels them to back us at snow-covered fields and at hot, humid tracks. As a team we challenge our opponents and strive to come out on top. Together we celebrate our victories; we overcome our defeats. Together . . . we are a team.

ACTION INTO GEAR

Apart . . . we are players, different people who contribute special natural ability and acquired skill. Our coach gives concentrated attention, pointers to strengthen each person's performance. Fans cheer for spectacular individual achievements as attention is focused on a game highlight — spiking a volleyball or dunking a basketball. As individuals, we work to accomplish an individual goal. Apart, we are secretly proud of a personal accomplishment; we accept a personal failure. Apart . . . we are players.

SHERMANS GET ROWDY

After suffering two discouraging years in the tough S.C.O.L., the Shermans re-entered familiar S.V.C. territory finishing in third place.

The Tanks maintained a balanced 2-2 record early in the season, but consecutive victories over Southeastern, Westfall, and Jamestown Greeneview proved them strong contenders for the championship crown. The season appeared brighter but the Sherman luster was eventually tarnished by their final two competitors. A loss to league champ, Piketon, and a last minute upset by Zane Trace concluded the season with an overall record of 5-4 and 4-3 in the league.

However, the disappointing defeats didn't dull the honors of several Sherman players. One special honor was shared by Bob Matson and Don Shaw who were voted co-captains for the season. Scott Daily, Steve Uhrig, and Bob Matson were named to the S.V.C. All-League team with Don Shaw, Kenny Hawkins, and Kevin Davis receiving Honorable Mention.

Don Shaw and Steve Uhrig took things a couple steps further when they were named first All-District and Honorable Mention to the All-Ohio team.

Steve Uhrig was awarded the annual Sportsmanship award.

Besides their football ability the Sherman team also proved that it doesn't take winning a title to bring back school spirit. By the season's end pep rallies were more than dead silence. The football team introduced a new fashion of Get Rowdy T-shirts and even formed their own kazoo band.

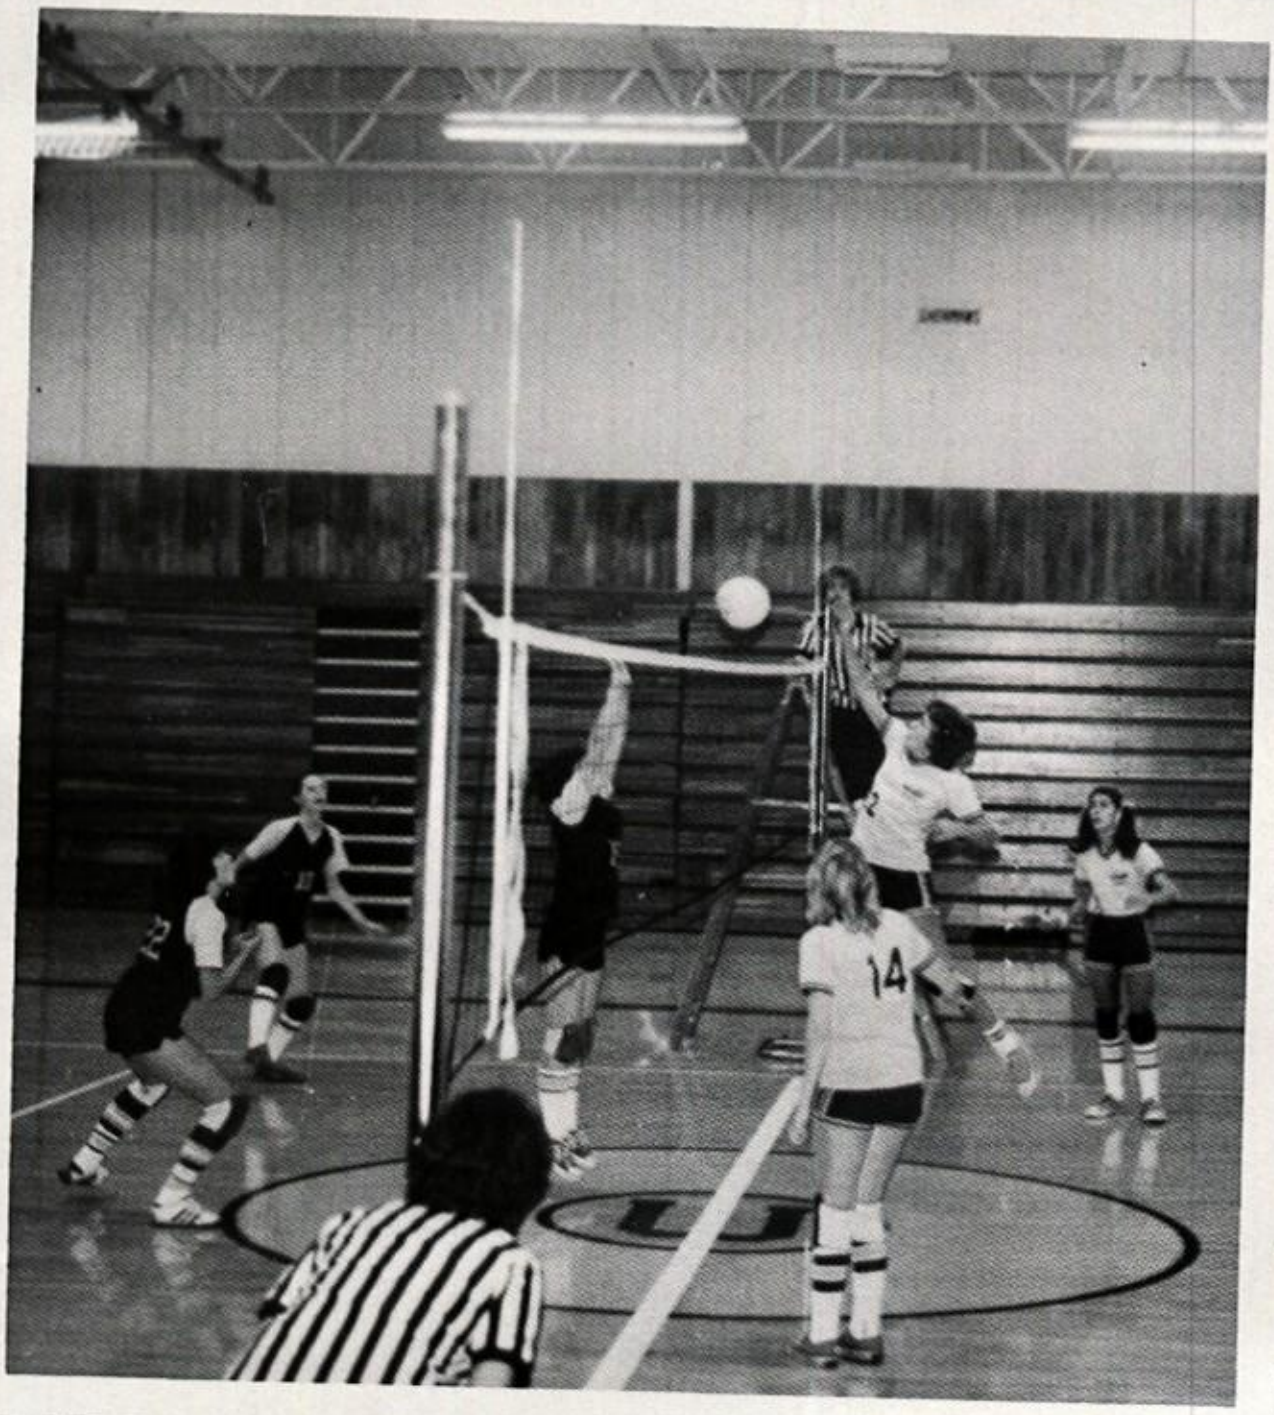
SPIKING WITH A FEMININE TOUCH



The Unioto Shermanettes had the best win-loss record in the history of volleyball at Unioto, ending the season with a 13-4 overall record and a 6-2 league record. The team finished in a second place tie with Zane Trace in the S.V.C.

The team was seeded second in the sectional tournament, but after defeating Western in the opening contest, lost to Zane Trace in the semi-final match.

Janice Landers, team captain, was awarded the trophy for most spikes. Annette Stauffer had the most sets during the season, and Shelley Smith took scoring honors. Barb Scholl received the Sportsmanship Award from the Booster Club. Lynn Blevins and Janice Landers were chosen by the S.V.C. coaches to represent Unioto on the All-S.V.C. team. Annette Stauffer was Honorable Mention for the All-League team.

The Junior Varsity squad went undefeated this season, winning 17 matches. The trophy for most spikes was earned by Becky Mackley. Kathy Hatfield received the award for most sets, and Debbie Brumfield claimed the most points trophy. Dee Dee King was chosen as the most improved player.

The J.V. Shermanettes defeated Adena in the final match to claim the championship of the Second Annual Junior Varsity Tournament.

Shelley Smith and Annette Stauffer watch anxiously as teammate Lynn Blevins spikes the ball at a Bishop Flaget player.

GAME, SET, MATCH

This tennis season was a very exciting one for the varsity girls' tennis team, coached by Leoma Straight. They participated in two different tournaments and ended their season with a record of eleven wins and five losses.

The tennis team competed for its second year in the Ohio State Coaches Invitational Tournament. The girls won their first two matches by defeating Circleville and Jackson, but they were defeated in the third round by AA-Champ Bexley.

For the first time ever, a state tennis tournament for girls was held. The girls competed in the Sectional-District tournament and fared quite well. Most of the Sherman racketeers defeated their opponents through the second or third round but were eventually defeated by host Bexley, who won the state tournament.

The trophy for the best win-loss record in singles play went to Brenda Loel, with a record of 14-2. Peg Scholl and Cindy McCoy received the trophy for best doubles. Their record was 11-5. The Booster Sportsmanship Award went to Julia Davis by vote of the varsity and reserve teams. Jackie Rahe, Julia Davis, and Susan Kozar ended their six-year careers of tennis at Unioto by receiving trophies which recognized them as members of the original tennis team.

GOLFERS WIN SECTIONAL

The Unioto golf team sported a winning season with an 11-5 record. The boys won the Sectional Tournament and then went on to place twelfth in the district. They also finished second in the Logan Elm Invitational.

Mike Barnett was awarded a trophy for having played varsity golf for four years. Eric Haynes and Tim Fairbanks received their second and third year awards respectively. Keith Snyder earned the Medalist Award, Terry White received the Sectional Medalist Award, and Jeff Strausbaugh won the Booster Sportsmanship Award.

MAKING IT HAPPEN

The girls' basketball team was forced to overcome huge obstacles this season, namely the weather and the fuel shortage. Old Man Winter dealt quite a blow as he disrupted school, practices, and games for the better part of the season. Practices were few and far between, and when they did take place they were held at such places as the Salvation Army gym, the Armory gym, the VA gym, and the Naval Reserve gym. At one point during the season, the team members' mothers volunteered to drive the two-hour stint to a scrimmage in Coal Grove, Ohio.

However, the girls managed a 7-7 record which is the best record in the team's short five-year history. Their league record was 4-4 which earned them a fourth place finish in the nine team Scioto Valley Conference.

The girls' hard work and persistence was rewarded at the Winter Sports Banquet. Individual honors went to captain Lynn Blevins, Offensive Player of the Year; co-captain Kelly Jadwin, Defensive Player of the year; Kathy Hatfield, Most Improved Player; and Cathy Rebman, Booster Sportsmanship Award.

Lynn Blevins was chosen by the S.V.C. coaches to represent Unioto on the All-Scioto Valley Conference Team. Kathy Hatfield was also chosen as Honorable Mention.

Winning a runner-up trophy at the Unioto Relays and a third place trophy at the Circleville Kiwanis Relays proved the track team successful during the season. Besides performing well in major meets, firsts were taken at a triangular meet with Piketon and Paint Valley, and a quadrangular with Waverly, Westfall and Paint Valley.

The team placed third in the Southeastern Ohio Sectional Meet sending three members to the District Meet. Mike McCoy competed in the high jump, Bret Roseboom in the shot put, and Bob Matson in the shot put and discus. Bob proceeded to the State Meet where he was state champion in the shot with a state record of 57' 10".

Records were made to be broken and that's what was done as four new school marks were set. Bob Matson set the new school shot record at 58' 8-½". A triple jump record of 38' 7-¾" marked by Jeff Strausbaugh and 1:03.1 was the new time run by the shuttle hurdle relay team of Mark Ray, Jeff Oakes, Leroy Haskins and Steve Barr. Craig Willis, Brian Woodfork, Jim Butler and Rick Lansing created the four mile relay team that ran a school record time of 2:00.0.

Awards were presented to Steve Barr for most running points and Bob Matson totaling the most points overall, most field points and State Meet Qualifier.

With only a few more hurdles to go, Jeff Oakes remains ahead in the race.

TRACK QUEENS: Cindy Ater, Cathy Hamilton, Kathy Baker, Lynne Spires, Kate Stewart and Jackie Rahe.

Aside from taking twelfth place in the District, the Girls' Varsity Track Team managed to break four school records. Robin Smith captured records in both the shot put and discus while Cathy Hamilton set a new time in the 880 yard run. Another school record was broken by the 440 Relay team consisting of Jenny Oakes, Beth Carmen, Robin Smith, and Kathy Baker.

The team as a whole placed fourth in the S.V.C., R.C.L., and Class A Sectional Meet, and a seventh place was taken at the Zane Trace Invitational.

Several honors were received by Sectional Champion Robin Smith. She was the teams' state qualifier in the shot put, finishing sixteenth. Robin also accumulated the most field points, most track and field points, and shared the honor of All Sports Award with Kathy Hatfield.

Jenny Oakes earned the other awards of most running points, the Boosters Club Sportsmanship Award, and the 300 mile club.

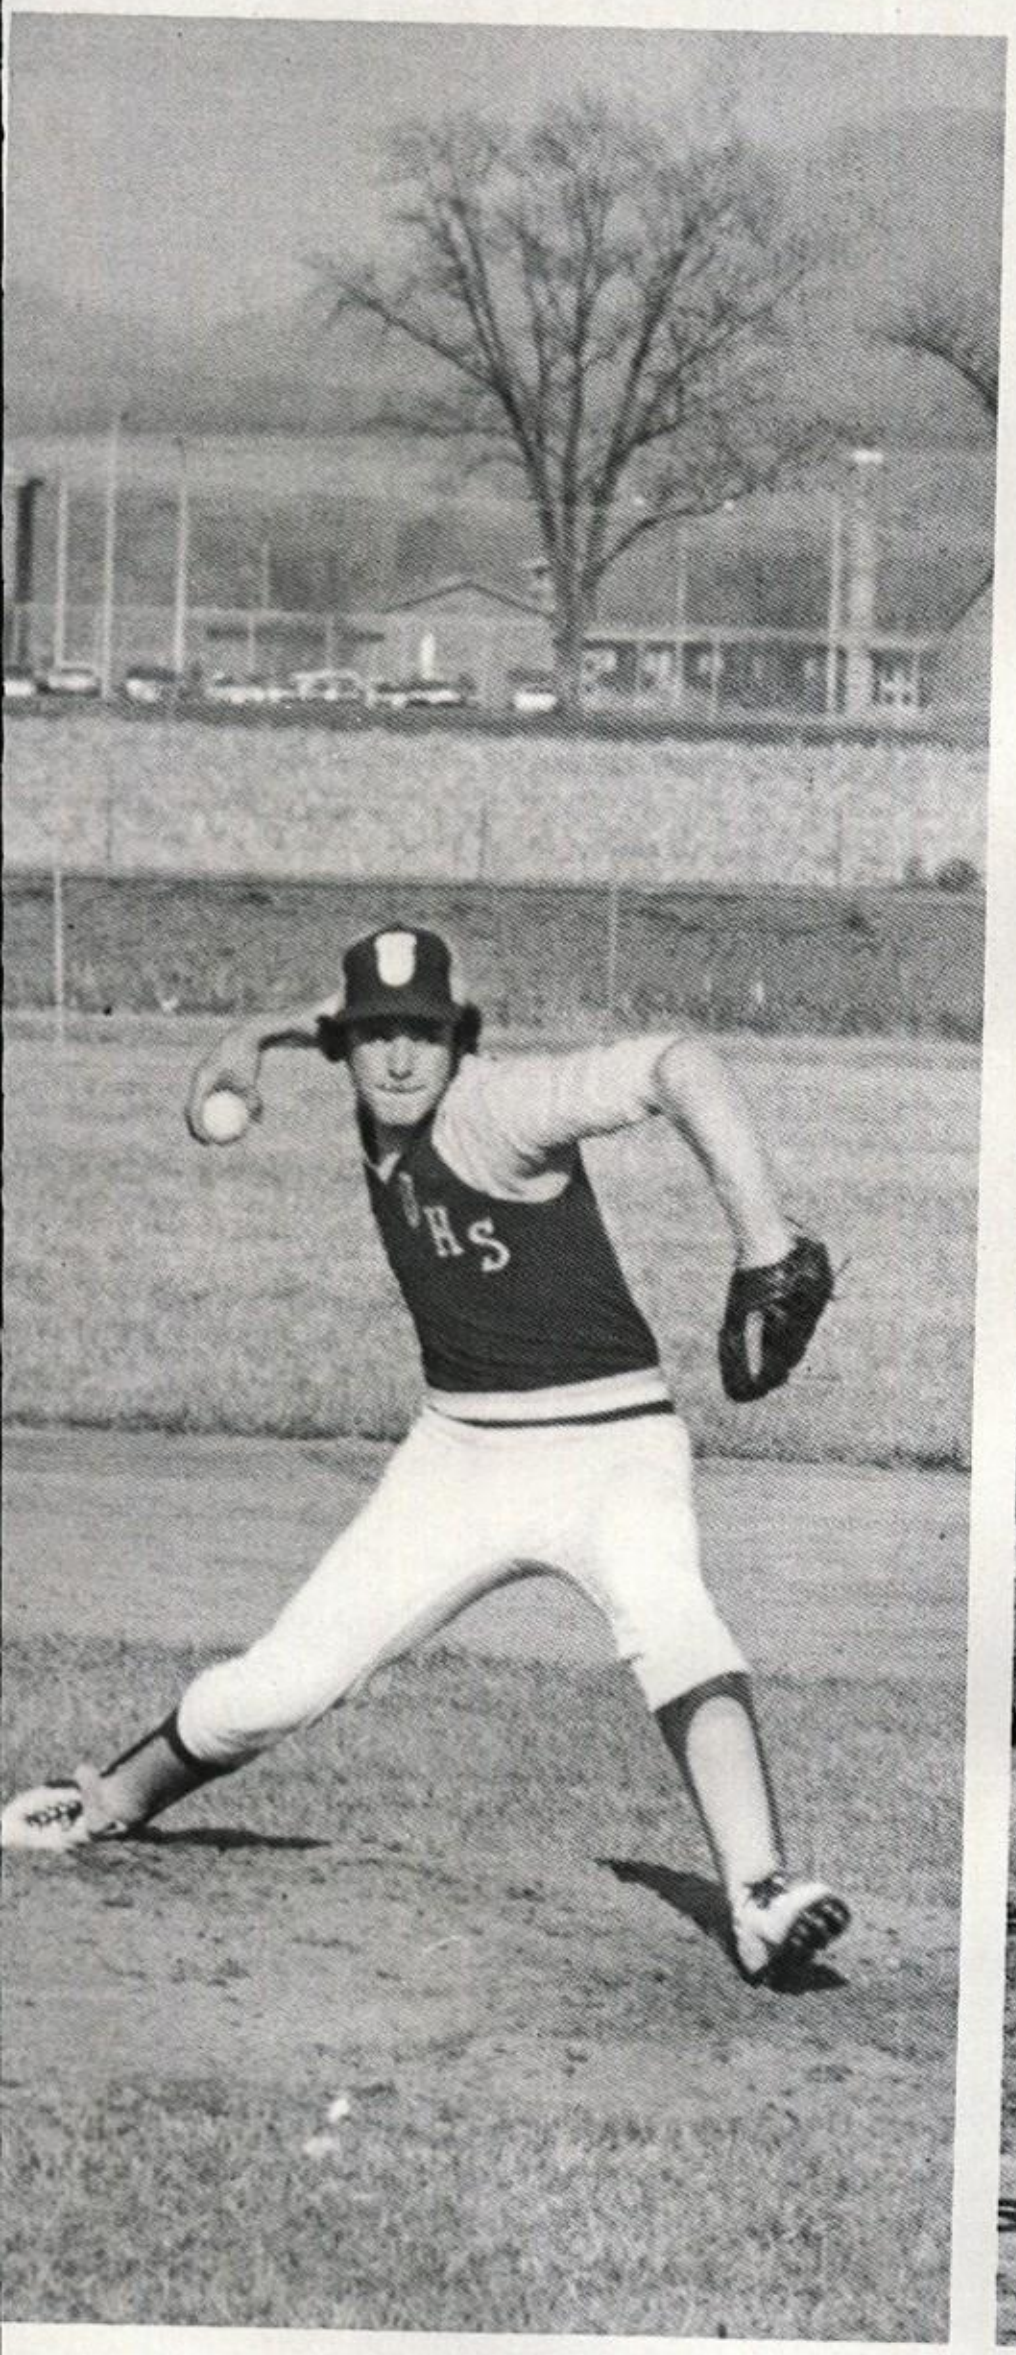
AND THIS ONE BELONGS

Randy Rhinehart carefully watches the ball as it sails out into the outfield.

TO THE SHERMANS



Tight defensive play and timely hitting combined with excellent pitching enabled the Shermans to win 17 out of the 21 games during the season. Steve Uhrig led the team in batting average with 556. The all SVC League winners for the Unioto team were Steve Uhrig at shortstop and the receiver of the League MVP Award, Scott Daily, pitcher. Scott had an ERA of .9914, losing only one of the eleven games he pitched this season. Two members of the team received SVC League Honorable Mention. They were Mark Davis and Randy Rhinehart. Steve Uhrig also led the team in stolen bases as he captured a total of 19. RBI's were led by catcher Randy Rhinehart, who had fifteen. Coaches Don Neff and Fred Lovely kept the team on its toes and moving throughout the victorious season.

Unioto's M.V.P. pitcher, Scott Daily, winds up to throw another strike.

ON THE GO

Together . . . we are an organization, a group that functions and works as one to learn and accomplish. As a group, we initiate freshmen, beautify the school grounds, and plan homecoming. We work together to make our ideas realities and our dreams successes. With a joint effort, we win debates, publish the Hi-Lites, and pass history tests. Together . . . we are an organization.

Apart . . . we are students, achieving separate grade point averages or holding certain offices. Each of us contribute an individual talent, ranging from a first place F.F.A. project at the fair to organizing the homecoming procession single-handedly. Each person is given the opportunity to contribute his own idea or thought. Individually, we form dissenting views on debatable topics; we write stories with unique flair, and we separately decide what to contribute. Apart . . . we are students.

AND UPWARD

Who thinks Home Ec is just "Cookin' and Sewin'?" Dressing up the department to make the home scene prettier included buying new furniture and decorating with complimenting accessories to complete a homelike atmosphere. After settling in, speakers and demonstrators were invited to talk on home design and trunk restoring for an added touch of creativity.

Preparing easily managed fit-for-guests lunches for Senior Citizens of the community was a heartfelt, rewarding task for the girls along with learning to care for the younger generation in the Playschool Program.

Other projects included a Teachers' Luncheon and, after some brain-searching to learn the metric measures, the domestics whipped up a "Proud of the Perfect Meringue" recipe that would make you weep.

Care of Skin, Make-Up, Hair Styling and Fashions rounded out the year for the Home Ec huddle.

The band gave many grand performances but one of the biggest thrills was journeying to Columbus State House to perform for President Ford.

After football season, our renowned Pep Band played during basketball season. Soon followed the many hours of practice by band members and soloists for competition at contests, only to be disappointed by cancellation due to severe weather. However, a special program was held for our superstars to show their talents and that, they did well.

The concert band ended another enjoyable year with their annual concert and graduation performances.

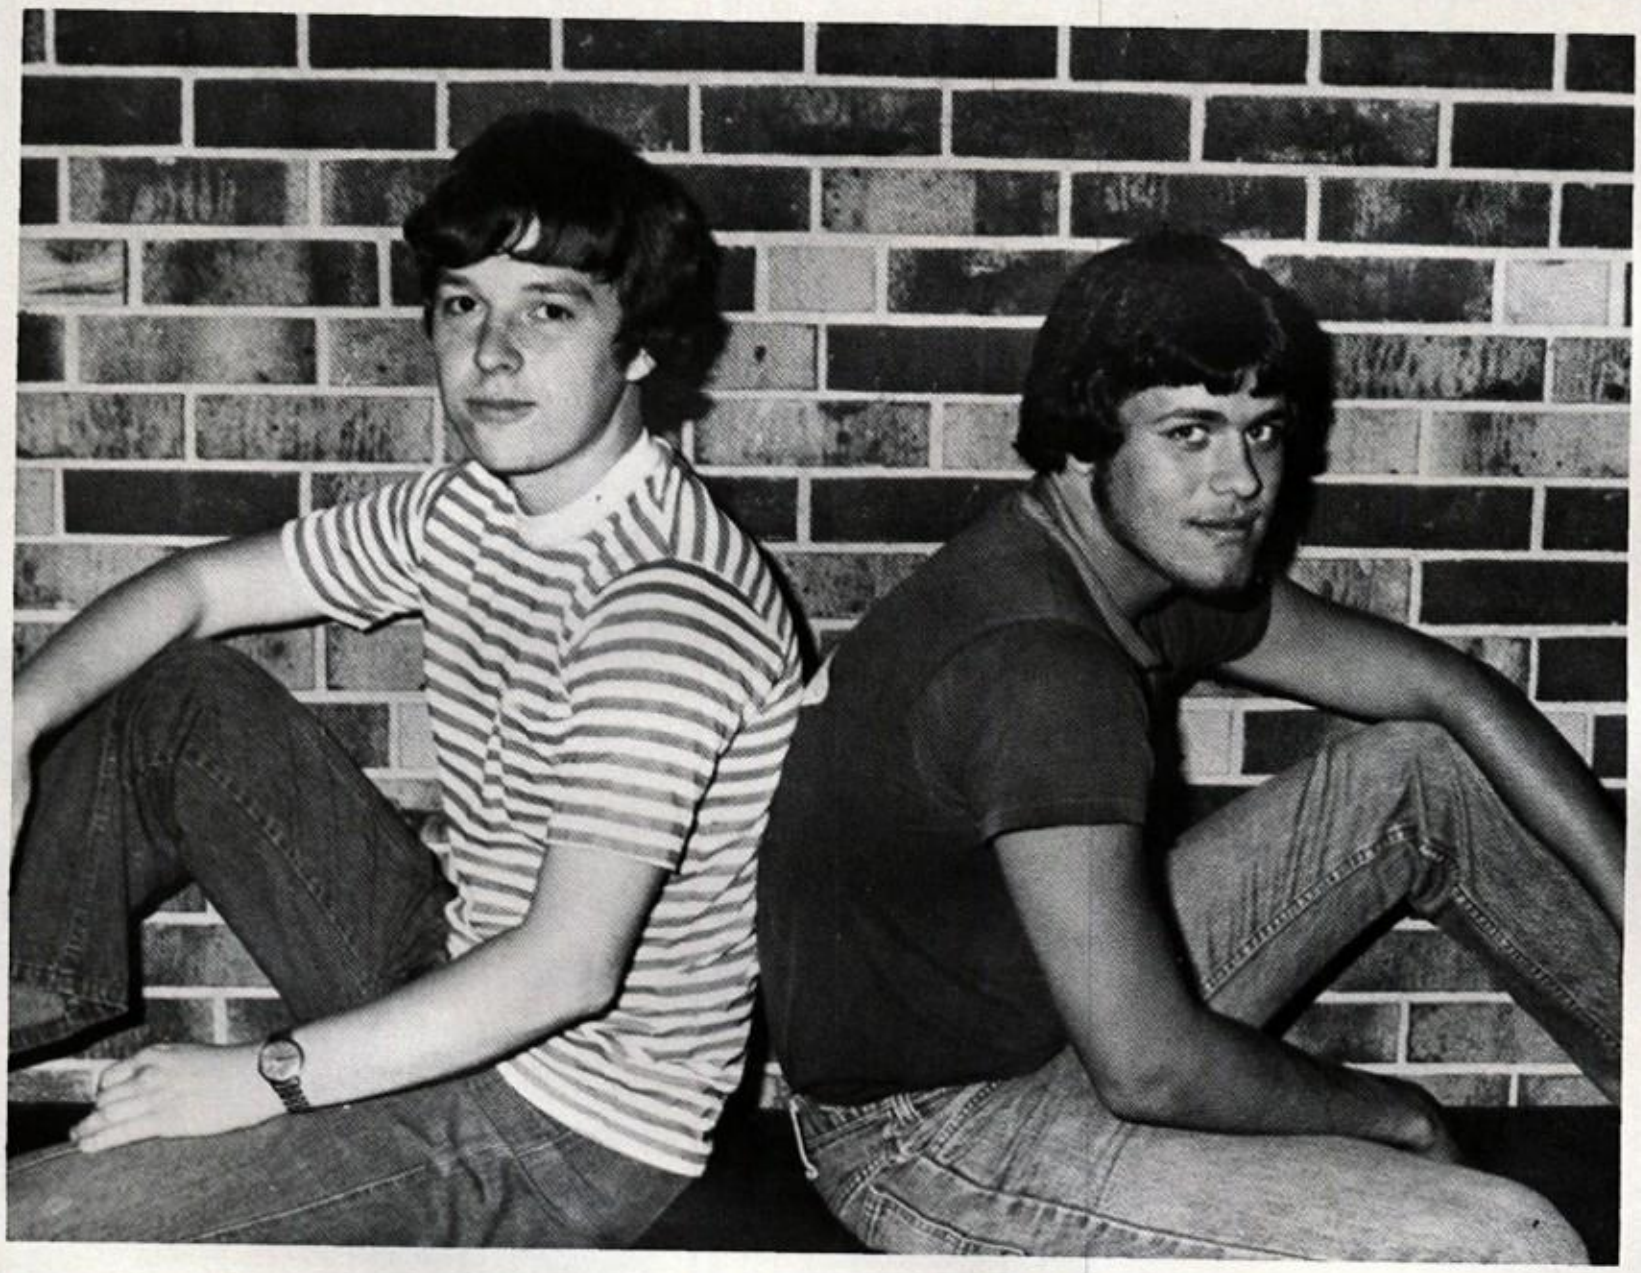
Jacinta Marks and Brian McKee are the High School Queen and King of Scholarship.

Barb Scholl was the recepient of the Choral Award and Jackie Rahe the John Philip Sousa Award.

During the summer, Brian McKee and Steve Uhrig attended Boys' State which was held on the campus of Ohio University in Athens.



WINTERTIME

There were many obstacles which had to be overcome during this year, not the least of which was the weather. To say it was cold would be an understatement. Record low temperatures were filed as well as record depths of snow, the first of which fell in October.

Many days were begun by turning on the radio in the hope that school would be cancelled for yet another day. This hope often came true, but as with all good things, they must come to an end. After several weeks of virtual isolation from all of our friends, school began again.

In an effort to conserve energy, all classes were held in the elementary building. Grades one through six went to school on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday. (They missed Saturday morning cartoons.) The Junior High and High School students went to class on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday. Junior High classes were held from 8:00 A.M. to noon and High School from noon to 5:00 P.M.

It was strange to walk down those halls — the halls we walked in single file as we went to wash our hands, eat lunch, or go to recess. It was strange to sit at those tiny desks in the rooms in which we spent so many of our younger days. It was strange to see Algebra equations written on the blackboards where we had learned to count. It was strange to reminisce about those times of long ago. It became apparent, particularly to the Seniors, as to just how much time had really passed.

Once again, all good things must come to an end, and the crisis was over. We returned to our regular buildings and our regular schedules.

Although the crisis has passed, we will remember the winter of "77" for many other winters which are yet to come.

A high school diploma is the first big step toward a fulfilling life these days.

Take the time now to check out another big step forward . . . what it means to belong to the Ohio National Guard.

* An opportunity to serve your community and your country in very meaningful ways.
* An opportunity to obtain specialty training that gives you an edge in competing for full-time work.
*The best paying part-time job available anywhere for one weekend a month and two weeks each summer after basic and specialty training periods. Today's Ohio National Guard provides excellent opportunities for men and women.
